The Pacific Declarations Made by Lord Salisbury in His Speech.

Further Details of the Wreck of the British Cruiser Serpent.

Only Three Men Out of 300 Saved—The Faulty Construction of the Vessel—Naples' "Buried Alive"—The Olphert Evictions—The Norwegian Ship Terpsichore Sunk in the English Channel—Premier Stambuloff's Tour—Overthrow of the Gillies Ministry—Capt. Casati's Sensational Revelations About Emin Pasha—The Honduras Revolution—Foreign News.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—The Journal de St. Petersbourg, commenting upon the Marquis of Salisbury's speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet in London, says that the Premier's friendly reference to the Czarewitch's approaching visit to India, will awaken a hearty response in Russia.

The Serpent Disaster.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The British torpedo cruiser Serpent was lost off the Spanish coast and the fate of the crew is not yet known. She carried six guns and was a twin-screw vessel of 1,770 tons and 4,500 horse-power.

A heavy mist prevailed on Monday night and the Serpent was about twenty miles north of Cape Finisterre. A violent storm was raging when she went on the rocks, and this prevented any assistance being sent her from the shore. The mist obscured the vision and waves ran so high that it was impossible to send ashore for help. Fastened on the the rocks, tremendous waves swept over the deck of the vessel and swept away group after group of the unfortunate beings who were confined on board. There were 250 on board and, so far as any one knows, only three have been saved. There were 170 officers. The others were going out to relieve men on ships at the African station.

The news was carried to Comuna, a distance of sixty miles, over mountain roads, then telegraphed to London. The Admiralty could give no information outside of press reports. The Duke of Edinburgh was at a Patti concert at Plymouth when the news reached that town. It was carried to him in the concert hall, and he immediately retired and visited the newspaper offices to learn further details. The Admiralty has telegraphed the British Consul at Comuna. The Queen has telegraphed the Duke of Edinburgh. Lord George Hamilton, First Lord of the Admiralty, addressed a Conservative banquet at Acton this evening, and before beginning his speech said he regretted to announce the loss of the Serpent and possibly a dreadful loss of life. The announcement caused a sensation, and there was evidently a feeling among those present that the banquet had better be postponed, but no such action was taken. Lord George Hamilton led the toasts with an unusually jolly speech, which provoked peal after peal of laughter. News of this reached the clubs and caused much severe criticism.

The Serpent was a cruiser of the third class. She was built at Davenport in 1888, after the ideas of Admiral Cooper Key who insisted on an immense horsepower, which, according to previous notions, was out of all proportions to her displacement. She cost $686,000. She could maintain a speed of seventeen knots an hour. Lord Brassy, in his naval annual, adversely criticised the vessel. It is claimed that she was unseaworthy and broke down on all her trial trips.

The newspaper offices at Plymouth were besieged by the wives and parents and children of the lost sailors searching for news. It is said that some of the sailors expressed fear of some mishap before the voyage began.

DETAILS OF THE WRECK.

Later advices from Cape Buelck, in the Province of Corruna, Spain, the scene of the wreck of the British torpedo cruiser Serpent, state that at 11 o'clock Monday night, in the midst of an impenetrable darkness, the war ship struck the reefs bows-on. She was hurled upon the rocks with such tremendous force that their jagged edges tore her keel as readily as a match might be split by the sharpest knife. A moment later a mammoth wave lifted the cruiser high above the reef, only to dash her back upon its stony face the next instant with a great hole stove in her bottom. With the next sea the unfortunate vessel slipped from the rocks into deep water. Through the awful gap in her hull the water rushed in by the hundreds of tons and then, in the midst of the awful blackness of the night, the howling of the wind and the hoarse roar of the waters beating against the fatal reefs, the cruiser Serpent, with nearly three hundred men, plunged to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean. At the moment of the fearful catastrophe the great majority of the ship's company were below decks, unconscious that death was all around them. They never reached the deck. On deck those whose duties kept them there found themselves so suddenly confronted with that it was impossible to launch a boat. So overwhelming, so sudden and complete was the disaster that of the great ship's company no human being made a sign or uttered a cry as they were swallowed up by the waters. The three wretched survivors of the calamity, torn by the cruel rocks, to which they marvelously clung until rescued, have been removed to the hospital, where they are now being cared for. They will be ordered to England as soon as their condition will permit of their removal to testify before the inquiry which will be held by the Board of Admiralty. The Queen is full of solicitude and has again telegraphed the expression of her sympathy and a request that she be furnished all the information obtainable bearing on the disaster.

The officials at the Admiralty office state that when the loss of the Serpent occurred she was trying to make either Corunna or the Bay of Vigo for repairs. The cruiser passed through a hurricane and was partially disabled.

STRANGE STORIES.

Strange stories are afloat in regard to the ill-fated cruiser Serpent. It is alleged that she was bunsied in building and that her test trials under steam were farces. These allegations are now said to have been matters of comment and gossip among the sailors ever since the vessel was launched, but if so, they never reached the general public in print. It is known that the men complained of the brutality of the Captain, who threatened to repay them by severe chastisement. There were several desertions from the vessel during her last voyage. The Admiralty are suppressing all details of this kind so far as possible and the complete story will probably not be made public until the report of a board of inquiry into the disaster is made—and perhaps not then.

Mexican Duelists.

CITY OF MEXICO, via Galveston, Nov. 13.—Deputy Romero in Congress yesterday objected to the action of the Speaker in closing the session of the previous day and demanded a full apology from Gonzales Esteva to Mateos. Adelberto Esteva seemed to think that the trouble with Mateos was settled on Tuesday. Personal attacks followed and a challenge was delivered by Adelberto Esteva on the floor. Romero said he could not accept a challenge on the floor, but he offered to fight on leaving the chamber. Such prominent men as Prieto, Guilhomo, Pinedor and Rosendo spoke and the Chamber, by a unanimous vote declared the day's action final, saying that Gonzales Esteva did not intend to insult the Chamber, but only to insult Mateos personally, and the Chamber had nothing to do with that. Adelberto Esteva left the Chamber to deliver his challenge to Romero and Gonzales has arranged a duel with Mateos. All of the principals are brave duelists who have fought before. The authorities may prevent any fighting.

Barracks Burned.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Wellington Barracks of the Guards were destroyed by fire yesterday. When it was found that the building was on fire the bugle sounded the fire parade. The soldiers responded promptly and worked the hand machines with a will. The fire started in the married soldiers' quarters, where a number of children were sick with measles. Women rushed to the windows and screamed loudly for help. When every one else had been saved it was learned that two children were still in the building. A soldier bravely entered the furnace and searched for them. On the top floor he heard screams issuing from the rafters. He broke the ceiling with an iron bar and found the children, who had been caught between the rafters and the tiles while trying to escape through the roof. He saved them.

Captured by a French Syndicate.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 13.—By an imperial decree issued yesterday, the right to construct quays on both shores of the Golden Horn is awarded to a French syndicate, which was the first to apply therefor. Similar works will be constructed by the syndicate in the harbor from Topkhan to the dock yard. The award carries with it, among other valuable privileges, the right of levying landing and other dues on merchandise, the syndicate to pay the Government 10 per cent of its earnings. The granting of these concessions was vigorously opposed by German capitalists who desired to secure the privileges to themselves.

Gathering Around Bogran.

SANTA ANA, Salvador, Nov. 13.—A dispatch from the frontier states that the Amapala Garrison, 200 strong, has gone to the relief of Bogran at Tamara. Troops from other Honduras points are also centralizing towards the President's headquarters, but the entire force will be unequally matched against the army under Sanchez.

SITUATION AT GUATEMALA.

CITY OF GUATEMALA, Nov. 13.—Gen. Ignacio Alatorre, the Mexican Minister, spent most of the day at the Foreign Department yesterday endeavoring, it is believed, to induce President Barrillas to recall the troops sent to the relief of Bogran. Senor Aralland, the Spanish Minister, and United States Minister Mizner were also given an audience, but refused to talk. There is no definite knowledge as to the course to be pursued by the Guatemalan Government.

Naples' "Buried Alive."

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The Naples police authorities have obtained an important witness against the directors of the convent popularly called the "Buried Alive," in the person of Sister Maria, a young girl, who said that her father, a wealthy man, put her in the convent against her will, because she intended to be married to a poor artist. The girl will be called upon to testify for the prosecution in the proceedings pending against the institution.

The Marriage System in Hindostan.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—According to a cablegram from Hindostan, the Government authorities who are taking the sense of various classes of Hindoos in relation to a change in the marriage system, have failed to find any general sentiment favoring a change. On the contrary, a strong prejudice against interference is shown by many, especially the Brahmins.

Russia's Anti-Jewish Laws.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—Instead of mitigating the severity of the anti-Jewish laws, the Czar's ministers have recommended that the number of Jewish students permitted in the universities shall be reduced from 5 to 3 per cent.

Sweden and the Congo.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Amsterdam advices state that Sweden has notified Belgium that the former country will not accede to any annual contribution to the support of Congo Free State, Sweden having no commerce whatever with the Congo.

Casati's Sensational Book.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A Rome dispatch says that Capt. Casati's forthcoming book will contain some sensational developments in regard to Emin's career in Africa, showing in substance that the equatorial province was a hot bed of vice and corruption, and a Botany Bay for the worst characters of Egypt.

Premier Stambuloff's Tour.

SOFIA, Nov. 13.—Premier Stambuloff, it is stated, is about to proceed on a tour of Europe for the purpose of endeavoring to persuade each of the powers to legalize the position of Prince Ferdinand as ruler of Bulgaria.

Foreign News in Brief.

The Marquis of Londonderry has been notified that 1,500 colliers in his Durham mines will strike unless the concessions they demand are granted.

The lace makers of Calais, where the great strike in that trade recently occurred, are now all at work at the new scale of wages, which is to hold good until November, 1891.

The Swiss Conservatives charge that agitators from Italy are active in fomenting trouble in the Catholic Cantons, especially Ticino.

TRAIN AND TRESTLE

Both Go Down Into Lake Labish, Near Salem, Ore.

Wreck of the Overland Southern Pacific Passenger Train, Southbound.

The Engine and Several of the Coaches Overturned and Buried in the Mud—Ten Persons Killed and About Forty Seriously Injured—Capt. Jack Crawford, the Post Scout, United States Marshal McGarry of Utah and a Number of Tourists Among Those Hurt—Medical and Other Assistance Dispatched to the Scene of the Wreck—Chicago's Government Building Going to Pieces—An Old Man Asphyxiated by Gas—Casualties.

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 13.—Shortly after 8:30 o'clock last night the overland Southern Pacific passenger train south-bound went through the north end of a long trestle over Lake Labish, about five miles from Salem. the engine struck it, and the train and trestle went down together. The engine was overturned and half buried in The trestle must have given way as soon as the mud, and following this the tender, mail, baggage and express cars, smoking car and tourist sleeper. All were broken to pieces. Engineer John McFadden, Fireman Tim Neal and an unknown man were killed. Following are among the injured:

CAPT. JACK CRAWFORD, the post scout, bruised.

SAMUEL ANSAN of New York City, side and back sprained.

MRS. T. C. BEERLY and MAY and NELLIE BEERLY of Missoula, Mont.

WILSON BARRY of North Dakota, injured about the throat.

C. M. BARROW of Ellsworth, Kan., back sprained.

FRED WAITE of Ellsworth, Kan., sprained, and it is thought received internal injuries.

DR. HAMMEL and wife of Philadelphia, both injured about the spine. They were returning from a trip around the world.

J. L. KIMBERLEE of Neenah, Wis., back hurt.

C. GRIEBEL, a traveler for the VanBlatz Brewing Co. of Milwaukee.

G. G. NEWHAM of Pleasant Forks, Canada, painfully injured about the throat.

JAMES MCGARRY, United States Marshal of Salt Lake, Utah, nose broken, leg probably broken and badly injured internally; it is feared he will die.

The train carried over one hundred persons, nearly all of whom were more or less injured. The first-class day coach, which was saved from going over, alighted with the front end on an old tree broken off about even with the trestle. The seats in the car were every one broken to splinters and the partitions in the car were broken into kindling wood. Then followed the smoker, the seats in which were nearly all broken. Next was the tourist sleeper, in which were some twenty-five or thirty passengers. Of this number only three were uninjured. Next was the Pullman car "Alatia" with seventeen passengers, and only three escaped without injury. The next and last car was the Pullman "Roseburg," in which were fifteen passengers; only four of these escaped with slight bruises. In the smoker and day coach every seat was occupied. The mail,

EXPRESS AND BAGGAGE CARS OVERTURNED.

The total number of deaths from the accident will probably reach as high as ten, and many have sustained what it is feared will prove serious internal injuries. The body of a tramp was taken out of the wreck, making four dead recovered. Fires were built along either side of the train to keep the wounded warm, who had been removed from the wreck, and to light the way of the workers who had hastened to the rescue from this city and vicinity. Laid out on the ground were the mangled corpses recovered from the wreck; reclining on improvised beds about the fires were the wounded, while standing about, lending what assistance they could, were those less seriously wounded, and around these and everywhere were the crowds who had come to help or out of curiosity. In the coaches standing on the fallen trestle work were the same scenes, every available cushion being occupied by some unfortunate one, more or less injured. As soon as the doctors from Salem arrived they set about dressing wounds and ministering to the needs of the injured.

The bridge is about 800 feet long and from 16 to 20 feet high. It is supposed the engineer felt the trestle give way as soon as his engine struck. He gave one short whistle and set the brakes. The train moved ahead about fifty yards as it went down.

Chicago's Federal Building.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—A sharp explosion in Judge Gresham's court room in the Federal building this morning created a panic among the people present and stopped the proceedings of the court. An investigation discovered that the wall of the northeast corner of the building had separated, leaving a visible crack for thirty feet. The Government recently investigated the costly pile and found it in very bad condition. The continued settling of the structure has considerably excited the Government employes occupying the upper floors.

A Terrible Hurricane.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—The Morgan Line steamer Gussie, Capt. James Brown, from Bluefields, arrived yesterday, eight days overdue. She left Bluefields Oct. 30, and met a hurricane the next day, which drove her into the sand on Cape Gracias bar, where she remained twelve days in five feet of water, even after her cargo of bananas and rubber was thrown overboard. The town of Cape Gracias was swept out of existence.

A Bad Collision.

MILLWAUKEE, Nov. 13.—At 1 o'clock this morning a "wild" cattle train, south-bound, collided with a regular freight train on the Milwaukee & St. Paul road near Truesdell, thirty-five miles south of this city. Three car loads of cattle were killed and maimed, and a number of freight cars with the engines were wrecked. The trainmen escaped by jumping. The wreck delayed traffic on the Chicago division until 10 o'clock this morning.

A Freight Smash-Up.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 13.—There was a freight smash-up on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg road yesterday, half a mile west of West Seneca. Workmen were repairing a bridge and had it jacked up. A flagman was sent back to flag the freight, but as there is a down-grade there the engineer could not stop the train. As the engine struck the bridge it tipped over and the cars piled on top. The engineer, John Chilcoat, was caught in the coal and severely injured. The others escaped.

Asphyxiated by Gas.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—August Hess, an elderly German, was found dead in his room at a hotel here yesterday. He had been asphyxiated by gas. He went on a spree last Monday and went to bed in a drunken stupor, forgetting to light the gas after he had turned it on.

Fell Between the Cars.

A DOCTOR'S CONFESSION.

He Doesn't Take Much Medicine and Advises the Reporter Not To.

"Humbug? Of course it is. The so-called science of medicine is a humbug, and has been from the time of Hippocrates to the present. Why, the biggest crank in the Indian tribes is the medicine man."

"Very frank was the admission, especially so when it came from one of the biggest young physicians of the city, one whose practice is among the thousands, though he has been graduated but a few years," says the Buffalo Courier. "Very cozy was his office, too, with its cheerful grate fire, its Queen Anne furniture and its many lounges and easy chairs. He stirred the fire lazily, lighted a fresh cigar, and went on."

"Take the prescriptions laid down in the books and what do you find? Poisons mainly, and nauseating stuffs that would make a healthy man an invalid. Why in the world science should go to poisons for its remedies I cannot tell, nor can I find anyone who can."

"How does a doctor know the effect of his medicine?" he asked. "He calls, prescribes, and goes away. The only way to judge would be to stand over the bed and watch the patient. This cannot be done. So, really, I don't know how he is to tell what good or hurt he does. Sometime ago, you remember, the Boston Globe sent out a reporter with a stated set of symptoms. He went to eleven prominent physicians and brought back eleven different prescriptions. This just showed how much science there is in medicine."

There are local diseases of various characters for which nature provides positive remedies. They may not be included in the regular physician's list, perhaps, because of their simplicity, but the evidence of their curative power is beyond dispute. Kidney disease is cured by Warner's Safe Cure, a strictly herbal remedy. Thousands of persons every year write as does H. J. Gardiner of Pontiac, R. I., Aug. 7, 1890:

"A few years ago I suffered more than probably ever will be known outside of myself with kidney and liver complaint. It is the old story—I visited doctor after doctor, but to no avail. I was at Newport and Dr. Blackman recommended Dr. Warner's Safe Cure. I commenced the use of it and found relief immediately. Altogether I took three bottles and I truthfully state that it cured me."

EAST ST. LOUIS AND BELLEVILLE.

The Board of Education Decides to Enlarge the Howe Institute.

The Board of Education of East St. Louis held an important business meeting last night at the Howe School. Reports were presented showing that the Howe building, which is situated in the Sixth Ward, has accommodations for not more than three-fourths of the school children of that neighborhood. After considerable discussion of the reports the directors decided that the building should be enlarged, and by official action in the meeting took steps to accomplish that end.

PARTED AMICABLY.

Phil D. Armour and Michael Cudahy Dissolve Partnership.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 13.—The announcement is made that Phil D. Armour and Michael Cudahy have dissolved partnership. Mr. Armour made over his interest in the packing house of Armour, Cudahy & Co. at Omaha, in exchange for Cudahy's interest in the Chicago house of Armour & Co. The exchange which has been pending for several months, was formally ratified yesterday. The separation, which Mr. Armour said to-day was amicable, and to serve the best interests of both parties concerned, was indirectly the outcome of Mr. Cudahy's determination to retire from the more active public work of the firm which he has been engaged with for the last quarter of a century.

The Eubanks Murder.

MITCHELL, Ind., Nov. 13.—A most horrible state of affairs has been developed in the investigation of the murder of Miss Mary Eubanks. Bee Eubanks, her brother, who is charged with the murder, and M. Eubanks, her father, who is held as an accessory are now in the Bedford jail. The investigation shows that the father and son treated the young woman as though she was a wild beast. They had a habit of beating and kicking her and driving her out of doors at night to sleep in the sheds and outbuildings. It is now suspected that Mrs. Eubanks, who died recently, was also murdered. Feeling against Eubanks and his son runs very high.

AN OUTRAGEOUS ACT

Soldiers Make a Murderous Assault Upon Students at Ann Arbor.

One of the Latter Dies of Injuries Received in the Melee.

A Serenade Terminated Tragically—Hot-Headed Commander Granger Orders the Militia to Charge Upon the Students for Guying Him—Two of the Students Dying of Their Injuries—An Ex-Mayor of Akron, O., Arrested for Petty Theft—Murder and Suicide—A Swindler in the Toils—The Eubanks Murder—Crime.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 13.—Company A, Michigan State Troops, turned out last night to serenade a member just married. As a wind up they fired a volley at the house. The students who were still excited over yesterday's riot turned out in force, thinking the old row had reopened. They surrounded the soldiers and guyed them. Lieut. Granger, in command, ordered the soldiers to charge twice. Fierce fighting followed, in which the soldiers used guns and the students stones and clubs. Irving Dennison, the son of Supt. Dennison of the Toledo Smead Heating System, died from injuries this morning. Two more are likely to die. Several soldiers were hurt with stones thrown by the students. Granger had no right to call out the troops or order the charge. The students are wild with rage and will kill Granger if they catch him. No arrests have been made as yet. Citizens sympathize with the students. A movement has been organized among the students to punish the murderers if the law does not.

Graham is a non-commissioned officer, and had no right to command the company. He claims to have received permission from the Mayor to fire their guns in the street. This is emphatically denied by Mayor Manly, who says that he positively refused them the permit when requested. It now looks as if a serious charge will be brought against the members of the military company who participated in the occurrence. It is still in dispute as to which side started the row.

Turlington Recaptured.

DE KOVEN, Ky., Nov. 13.—John Oscar Turlington, the train robber and murderer, was arrested at Caseyville yesterday by Constable Wm. Dyer, assisted by Henry Spencer of this place. He was found in an upstairs room of a boarding house where he had locked himself in, and strange to say, was without weapons of any kind. He made no attempt at resistance. He states that since his sensational escape from the Boonville (Mo.) jail on the 1st inst. he has traveled day and night, scantily clothed, most of the garments having been left on the dummy in his cell. The bloodhounds on his trail were once within 100 yards of him, but lost the scent over the trail made by a herd of cattle and drove of sheep and turned back, Turlington being then hidden in a barn. At another time he was fired upon by pursuers on horseback, summoned by a man in ambush, but escaped. He used a horse from near Boonville to Franklin and then floated down the river in a skiff until he struck a sand bar from which he waded ashore. Reaching Caseyville yesterday morning, he begged for admission and then on his knees for food at the boarding house where he was arrested, but being refused he went upstairs nevertheless, and locked himself in. The family, who knew him, fled from the house and gave the alarm. After his arrest he sent the following dispatch:

To A. Hornback, Sheriff, Boonville, Mo.:

I am captured. Please ask your Deputy Sheriffs and officers to have me protected from mob. JOHN OSCAR TURLINGTON.

He will be brought back to Boonville as soon as possible. Turlington states that he did not get out of the window of the Boonville Jail, as stated by the papers, but fixed up his dummy and secreted himself in a vacant cell, from which he afterward slipped out, passed through six corridor doors, found the keys in the outside door, and escaped.

A Defaulter's Suicide.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13.—The investigation of the suicide of Selby Jones, ex-secretary and treasurer of the defunct hardware firm of Hall & Willis, goes to show that the deceased was short in his accounts something like $150,000. How he spent this money is not positively known, but the opinion is that he let it go in his mania for speculating in grain. For over a month an expert has been at work on his books, the investigation having been ordered by John G. Heinzen, a brother-in-law of Hall, who suspected all was not right and came on here from Baltimore to satisfy himself. Tuesday a meeting was held at which Willis, Jones and a couple of attorneys were present. It was then Jones was charged with the defalcations. He made no satisfactory explanation, and was completely crushed by the accusation. He went home and talked with his family several hours, after which he retired to his room and shot himself.

"Black Bart" on Deck.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 13.—Confessions made by Shinn, the train wrecker and stage robber, recently arrested in Chicago, again implicate the famous Black Bart in attempts at stage robberies. Shinn says that after he and Thorn, the escaped convict, escaped from San Quentin they lived in a shanty in Amador County, where Black Bart called and agreed to meet them in a week for the purpose of robbing a stage. He did not do so, but after an expedition of that nature they found a paper at the shanty reading, "B. B. O. K.," which Thorn recognized as in Black Bart's handwriting. There was an understanding between Bart and Thorn that they were to continue their criminal work together. Black Bart has been pretending to be pious since his release from San Quentin three years ago.

An Alleged Pension Embezzler.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 13.—Deputy United States Marshal L. F. Long, of Denver, arrived here yesterday with Milan D. Fletcher, formerly of this State, who is wanted here for embezzling $300 pension money belonging to the minor children of W. P. Anderson, who died ten years ago at Shoals, Ind. Fletcher was appointed guardian of the children and acting as such collected the money and applied it to his own use. It was only last April that a charge was preferred against him, one of the children then becoming of age. Fletcher fled to Colorado and remained there until he was seized by Deputy Marshal Long. When he was arraigned before Judge Wood yesterday he pleaded guilty, but the sentence was withheld.

An Ex-Mayor in Trouble.

AKRON, O., Nov. 13.—Ex-Mayor Chas. A. Collins, senior member of the firm of Collins & Son, carriage manufacturers in this city, was arrested yesterday on the charge of robbing the till of Werner Gille, a grocer, on Main street. Mr. Gille had been systematically robbed for a year. Yesterday marked coins were placed in the till, and two policemen who were stationed behind a screen in the store, caught ex-Mayor Collins helping himself to $3 in small coins from the till. Collins was arrested. He is 70 years old, and has always been highly respected.

Mr. Buchholz was one of the prominent German citizens in the South End, and a member of a number of leading German social circles.

The engine-house, stock-house, engine and machinery of the Hazel Wool-works were totally destroyed by fire about 8:30 o'clock last night. At about the above time Night-watchman Dave Trunnell observed a bright flame issuing from the roof of the engine-room. An alarm from box 416 was turned in and Engine Company No. 2 was soon at work extinguishing the blaze. The houses, which were built of wood, were soon destroyed. The engine and machinery, which cost about $4,000 is wrecked. The buildings cost $1,000. Three hundred sacks of wool were stacked in the stock house, and although the sacks were consumed by the flames the wool was unscorched. Water, however, damaged the stuff considerably. The blast furnace and receiving pit were not damaged. The plant was built on the river bank near the Jupiter Iron Works three years ago by Messrs. Fred Perentise, Chas. H. Rockwell and B. Whipple of Columbus, O. The plant employed about a dozen hands.

BIRCHALL READY.

The Murderer of Fred C. Benwell to Be Hanged To-Morrow.

Affecting Farewell Interview Between the Doomed Man and His Wife.

Birchall Breaks Up His Little Home in the Jail, Finishes His Farewell Correspondence and Disposes of His Personal Effects —Remarkable Nerve of the Man—No Sign of Breaking Down—Mrs. Birchall Half Distracted With Grief—Extraordinary Precautions Taken by the Sheriff—Flowers Brought to the Murderer by Old Schoolmates—History of the Crime.

WOODSTOCK, Ontario, Nov. 13.—J. Reginald Birchall, who on Feb. 17 last led Frederick Cornwallis Benwell off to the lonely Blenheim Swamp and there foully murdered him, is preparing to meet his death with as much calmness as though he were making arrangements to go on a mere earthly journey. Yesterday he busied himself with finishing up his farewell correspondence. He began this dismal task Tuesday, and labored at it until dark. Yesterday morning he resumed it, and by noon it was all completed. So far as he could then remember he had bidden adieu to all the people he wished to say a parting word to. The letters made a considerable bundle, and he sent them to his wife who will post them. Most of them are addressed to friends in England, though he has written brief notes of thanks to Mr. Blackstock, Mr. McKay and the other lawyers who have attended him. During all this cheerless task he was brave and never showed signs of breaking down, nor did he betray any symptoms of weakness when he set about his next occupation which was, if possible, more trying than the letter-writing. This was the breaking up the little home in jail where he lived so long, and which he has decorated and made almost cheerful with pictures, sketches, and little odds and ends. He took all of them down and made a general house-cleaning. The books and the sketches which he had made himself, together with some of the little scraps of bric-a-brac he had gathered, he packed away in his trunk. Then he took all his clothing, save the suit he was wearing, and a change of linen for the fatal morning, and folded it carefully up and put it with the other things in his trunk. The trunk, which is a flat one of English make, and which still bears the label of the White Star steamer Brittanic, which was put on it in February last, when he and his unhappy wife, together with Pelley and Benwell made that voyage from Liverpool to New York, was then carried by two of the jail attendants down the iron spiral stair case and deposited on the stone floor of

THE JAIL ROTUNDA.

Later in the day it was taken to the Commercial Hotel and delivered over to Mrs. West-Jones, Mrs. Birchall's sister. The fact of its arrival was strictly kept from Mrs. Birchall. Mr. Bid strange, go of the boy, and turning say strik- er gave him a blow in the ingly, handsome. His long confinement has given him a pallor which has taken out of his countenance all traces of the fierce animal there is within, and gives his features a certain refinement they lacked when he was leading his crazy career here two years ago as Lord Somerset. What dread there is in his soul, what inward quaking he has as he contemplates the terrible ordeal before him, he alone knows. Not by one word or sign or outward manifestation has he indicated that he looks forward to the terrible ordeal before him with anything save perfectly cheerful philosophy. Even in the heart-breaking last interviews he has had with his sorrow-stricken wife, his eyes have never moistened nor has a quiver come to his lips or a falter in his voice. His attendants say that at times within the past two days he has had moments when he seemed lost in sorrow. But at a word he would rise out of it and talk in

HIS USUAL HALF-FLIPPANT WAY.

Will he break down at the end? Will he protest his innocence to the end? He now says he has accomplices. Will he give their names at the last moment? These are the great questions, and about them centers the real interest in the execution. Mrs. Birchall Tuesday night had her final private interview with her husband. The time fixed for it was Tuesday night, and she had hardly begun to talk with him when Mr. Wade, rector of Old St. Paul's Church here, who is Birchall's spiritual adviser, arrived and the interview was broken up. In consideration of this interruption it was decided to give Mrs. Birchal another opportunity last night. It was insisted, though, that the condemned man and his wife should not approach nearer than three feet of one another. Yesterday even this privilege was withdrawn. The Governor of the jail, kind-hearted Mr. Cameron, called on Mrs. Birchell at her hotel in the afternoon to tell her that he had received orders that the old rule must be enforced. So last night a keeper stood between husband and wife while they said their farewell words. The fear that Birchell would make way with himself in some way and that his wife would furnish him the means to do it is the cause of all this. The anxiety on this score on the part of Sheriff Perry has amounted to a sort of panic and has caused many precautions which are absurd, and some which seem almost heartless. The fear, however, was by no means a groundless one, though it was not necessary to go at all the lengths that have been gone to prevent any such event taking place. Mrs. Birchall keeps her room rigidly except when she goes to the jail. All her meals are served in her room, and her sister, Mrs. West Jones, is constantly with her. Yesterday Mr. Arthur Leetham, now of Montreal, but formerly came here. With him was Mrs. Ingallis of Montreal, who has taken a deep interest in poor Mrs. Birchall. Mr. Leetham and Mrs. Ingallis went to the jail in the afternoon and carried Birchall some flowers. They did not see him, of course. Nobody sees him except his wife, Mr. Wade and the jail attendants. Birchall received a number of letters during the day. The majority were from cranks, but one from England brought him the news that his mother and his half-brother were dangerously ill. He betrayed a good deal of emotion over this. The scaffold is not yet erected, but will be put in position to-day. It will be in the northwest corner of the jail yard, and Birchall from his cell must certainly hear the sound of putting it together. In the town here nothing else but the execution is talked of, and it also absorbs all interest as to noticeably affect business as was the case during the trial. The hotels are already filling up and there will be about a hundred newspaper correspondents here by to-night.

A SCHOOLMATE OF BIRCHALL,

National League Meeting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The delegates to the annual Convention of the National Base Ball League, who were at the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday when the meeting was called to order, were all on hand to-day and anxious to know just what would be the result of the contemplated conference between the National League people and the committee of the Players' League, consisting of Messrs. Ward, Prince and Johnson. The news received at the Fifth Avenue Hotel from Pittsburg last night was that the committee named had been instructed to advocate a general consolidation of the leagues. The convention was to go into session to-day at 11 o'clock, but at that hour it was announced that the meeting would not be called to order until after 12 o'clock.

Missing Animals.

The police of the Fifth District report that a black hog, weighing about 300 pounds, has been stolen from D. W. Case's, 3333 Goodfellow avenue; that a white bull pup, weighing 22 pounds, has been taken from Gus Muenninghaus', 1917 Belleglade avenue, and that a light brindle cow, with turned up horns and branded "F. F." on the left hip, is missing from P. Fberen's, 4208 Page avenue.

SMOKE CONSUMERS.

A PERFECT SWARM OF INVENTORS PAYING THE MAYOR VISITS.

All Have Got Machines Which Will Do the Work Which the Mayor and Citizens Are So Anxious to Have Done—Some of the Ideas for Smoke Consumption—Complain of the Lack of Lighting—City Hall Matters.

The smoke nuisance has again become the subject for investigation and consideration. The Mayor has set about getting the opinions of physicians as to the evil effects of smoke laden air for breathing purposes and the opinions of business men as to the other evil effects. In doing these things he has stirred up a swarm of new annoyances, and his time is now largely occupied in avoiding the results of his own doings. He alone is not the only sufferer; all the other officials who can have the least word to say come in for their share.

This new variety of annoyance is the smoke consumer inventor and agent. His number is legion and the variety and excellence of his machine is a caution.

Secretary Brennan is posted through experience and so is the Mayor. The Secretary comes into the inner sanctum and says: "A man wants to see you."

"Who is he?"

"Smoke consumer."

"Tell him I'm dead or something."

The Secretary bears the message and the smoke consumer then explains that all he wants is that his machine shall be given a fair show with the rest and be put on one of the city institutions to be tested. The stock of city institutions is exhausted, however, so his request is refused. There are more patent smoke-consuming and preventing conveniences now than there are sewing machines, and they approach in numbers and variety the patent car-coupler. Every one of them is a perfect machine, if the word of the inventor can be taken.

Throughout the entire list there are, however, but four or five fundamental principles on which they are based. The most common is the blast furnace, where the draft is increased either by a steam injector or by a rotary fan. Then comes the one which takes the smoke on a double trip through the furnace. It is first drawn by a suction pipe down under the fire and then forced back through it from beneath. A third variety catches the smoke on its way to the stack and hammers it to pieces in a swiftly revolving fan, and another reverses the draft so that instead of burning upward the fire burns from the top downward, causing all the smoke to pass through the hottest part of the fire. This last contrivance is meeting with rather more favor than the rest.

The patent grate bars which are calculated to do away with smoke are too numerous to mention. Many of these patents are working, and working well, but none have been found which will apply to all styles of boilers and furnaces, and objections are found to most of them. This can be ascribed to the steam engineers to a great extent, as they all have their likes and ideas about these things.

Boiler Inspector McClelland has made a very thorough study of the whole system and spoke on the subject to-day. He said: "I want to say in the first place that if a smoke ordinance is passed that I don't want it tied on to my department. I would not have an engineer friend left if it was. As to the practical workings of smoke preventers I must say that there are many things to be considered, but in general there is not the slightest doubt as to the possibility of abating the nuisance to a very great extent. The greatest enemy of smoke prevention is the fireman, and it is safe to say that 50 per cent of the smoke could be done away with by proper firing alone and without using a consumer; 75 per cent of the consumers which have been more or less successful have been so because they give a good fire; complete combustion is the only real remedy for smoke and a machine which will give that result will be a success. I have seen a great many of these machines and some of them work very well while others do not, but in many instances a machine works well in one place and not in another simply because it is handled by different men. That we will find some means in the end I have no doubt and when it is found it will be a fuel saver as well as a smoke-preventer. The only true way is to prevent the smoke by burning the fuel."

The Court-House, City Hospital and Poor-house are all equipped with consumers and preventers, which have so far done very well. The only thing necessary now is to adopt an ordinance which will cover the case, and the house-painting bills in St. Louis will be greatly reduced and the market will be overstocked with soap.

A Controversy Settled.

The Warne avenue controversy was settled yesterday afternoon by the board Committee on Streets, which filed the petition for a repeal of the Warne avenue ordinance. Some time ago it was found that the neighborhood demanded additional sewer facilities between Lindell avenue and Olive street, and for the purpose of securing a place to build it the property-owners sent a petition to have the street cut through. Commissioners were appointed, the property condemned, the ordinance passed, and all the arrangements made; since then sewer connections have been made in other directions, and some of the owners changed their minds and petitioned the board to have the ordinance repealed, and the street left unopened. Half a dozen hearings were held, and the fight between the owners was quite warm. After due consideration the committee decided to let the ordinance stand, so there will be a sixty-foot street cut through from Olive street to Lindell avenue.

Complaints of Poor Lighting.

Complaints are being made about the street lights at present from all parts of the city.

The residents of Delmar avenue, between Sarah and Taylor avenue, held a meeting on the subject last night, and others are making the statement that the lights do not burn with satisfactory regularity. All shortcomings in the lighting are known to the lighting department of the city, but exactly what steps have been taken in the matter is not known.

An arrangement was made some time ago with the Chief of Police whereby all lamps not burning are noted and reported by the patrolmen. These reports are sent daily to the Inspector of City Lighting for correction. He does not seem disturbed, however, by the increase in the number of such reports, but whether or not he has applied a remedy is not known.

Whistling and Waiting.

Harry Guinzberg is still waiting for the $500 the House of Delegates wanted to make him a present of. The only difficulty Mr. Guinzberg encountered was the Comptroller, but that gentleman does not propose to give it to Mr. Guinzberg simply because the House of Delegates say so. Mr. Guinzberg was the lobbyist for the Merz garbage ordinance and in a burst of enthusiasm invited the Municipal Assembly to take a trip to St. Paul to view the works there. A large part of the Assembly went and then came back, all at the expense of Guinzberg. When the garbage contract was knocked out Mr. Guinzberg persuaded the members of the House of Delegates to give him $500 to pay the expenses. The House passed a resolution instructing the Mayor and Comptroller to pay Mr. Guinzberg $500. But as it happens the Comptroller refuses to be instructed and says if the House wants to draw against its own fund it can do so, but the city has no money to pay such debts and furthermore will not do so.

The Work-House Rock Pile.

The Work-house rock pile is now a subject of controversy between Supt. Carroll and Contractor Byerman, who does the hauling. Some weeks ago the Superintendents of the street reconstruction department reported that the contractor did not furnish them with a sufficient amount of macadam for their work. Supt. Carroll said the macadam was at the Work-house quarry, but that the contractor did not have teams enough to haul it away.

The contractor to-day complains that he has been compelled to lay off a number of his teams because there is no rock for them to haul. His statement and that of Supt. Carroll do not agree. The board will look into the matter to-morrow and see where the fault lies.

To Go to the Supreme Court.

City Counselor Bell has returned from Springfield, Ill., where he went to try the Arsenal Island case before the United States Circuit Court. Mr. Bell said this morning: "We will take the case to the Supreme Court and give it another trial here. I have no idea what the outcome will be. If the Supreme Court maintains the State in its claim that the property line is at the middle of the river we will lose but in the other event we will win. The last court we tried the case in is a Federal Court and they sustained the State of Illinois, so we are in the dark in the matter."

The Arsenal Island fight has been going on for some time and the question of who it belongs to will be settled when the Supreme Court gets through.

AS HE LEFT THE PRISON.

MATT KELLY ARRESTED IN JOLIET FOR WATCHMAN FURLONG'S MURDER.

Officer King Will Return With the Prisoner This Evening—The Long Hunt After Kelly—How Officer John Furlong Was Beaten to Death Eighteen Months Ago—Evidence Against Kelly.

Officer King is expected to arrive from Joliet, Ill., this evening with Matthew Kelly, the supposed murderer of Private Watchman Furlong. Kelly served eleven months in the Illinois State Penitentiary for burglary, saving one month of his sentence by good behavior. He was employed in the boot shop burnishing heels and became quite an expert in the work, a fact which the Warden of the Missouri State Penitentiary will probably make a note of.

The crime of which Kelly is accused is the murder of John Furlong, a private watchman, about a year and a half ago. Furlong was assaulted by a gang of hoodlums on the corner of Fifteenth street and Franklin avenue on the night of May 2, 1889, and most brutally beaten, the first blow having been given from behind and without any warning. A few minutes later a policeman found him lying insensible on the sidewalk, and his face was so beaten up and covered with blood that it was not until he had been removed to the City Hospital that he was recognized as John Furlong, who for five years as a private watchman had been the terror of the toughs in the vicinity of Fifteenth and O'Fallon streets. His skull was found to be fractured, and his face and body were one mass of bruises. An effort was made to save the man's life by a surgical operation, but he died four days afterwards and without having returned to consciousness.

THE ASSAULT ON FURLONG.

The assault on Furlong was witnessed by several people, but the police had a good deal of trouble in finding any positive evidence against the young men under suspicion. Frank McGarry, James Hayes, John King and Pat Kane were at first arrested, but the evidence against them was very weak, and they were discharged. The inquest on Kelly's remains was held the day after his death, and the funeral took place the next day, the services at St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church being attended by an immense crowd of people, for Furlong was well known in that vicinity and was very popular notwithstanding the large number of enemies he had made among the criminal classes. He was a young man, only 28 years of age, and one of his brothers, Father Furlong, was and still is one of the most popular young priests in the city. He has charge of Assumption Church in the southern part of the city, and another brother is with the Meacham Arms Co.

At the inquest Herbert Cornwall, a 14-year-old boy, living at 1417 Franklin avenue, testified that the man who struck Furlong the first blow was a young man named Matt Kelly.

THE EVIDENCE AGAINST KELLY.

He knew Kelly very well, he said, and saw him slip up behind Furlong and hit him in the head with a club, the blow knocking him down. The man was then kicked and beaten by Kelly and his comrades, but Cornwall recognized only Kelly. As the latter had not been seen at any of his accustomed loafing places since the night of the assault, the police accepted the testimony as the best clue received of the assailants, and a search was instituted for the missing man. He could not be found, however, and it was evident that he had left the city. A few weeks later they thought they had located him at Kansas City and Detective McGrath was sent after him, but the suspect proved to be the wrong man. A number of clews as to his whereabouts were received at different times and finally the right man was located, but he was then in the Joliet Penitentiary and could not be brought back to St. Louis until he had served out his term.

Charged With Embezzlement.

About 5 o'clock this morning Deputy Sheriff Hardwig went to the residence at Eleventh and Chambers streets and arrested Samuel N. Smith, taking him out of bed on a warrant charging him with embezzlement. Smith has been for some time in the employ of the City Laundry Co. on Washington avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, in the capacity of a teamster. It is alleged that several days ago he collected $35 on the account of the laundry company and failed to make any return. He is now in jail.

DESTITUTION IN NEBRASKA.

Caused by the General Failure of the Corn Crop.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 13.—The yield of corn is much less than anticipated, the average in this part of the State being less than ten bushels to the acre, and further west even less. Farmers have nothing to feed with, and vast quantities of hogs, half fattened, are being rushed to market and sacrificed at very low prices. Corn is selling on the streets for from 50 cents to 53 cents per bushel. It is impossible to disguise the fact that in western counties there is much destitution. Many homesteads are heavily encumbered and a few have been abandoned. Women and children are suffering for food, clothing and fuel. The churches and benevolently inclined people are quietly organizing for their relief.

BLED TO DEATH.

A Missouri Pacific Brakeman Who Fell From His Train.

The funeral of C. A. Feigel, a Missouri Pacific brakeman who was so badly injured by falling from his train, freight No. 121, at St. Paul, near Pacific, Mo., on Tuesday that he died Tuesday night, took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from his late residence, No. 3007 Clark avenue, under charge of the Knights of Pythias. The accident resulting in Feigel's death was given a peculiarly sad aspect owing to the fact that the brakeman's life could have been saved after falling from the train had his absence been discovered in time. As it was, after loosing his footing and falling to the rails, the cars passing over his left leg above the knee, the poor fellow lay beside the track slowly bleeding to death, while his train passed on, his fellow trainmen being in ignorance of his having fallen from his car. When the train arrived at Pacific, Mo., twenty miles from St. Paul, it was found that Feigel was missing. Passenger train No. 1, passing the injured man half an hour later, brought him to Pacific, but the terrible loss of blood had placed him beyond any hope of recovery. He was taken charge of by the station agent at Pacific, Mo., and his young wife in this city was telegraphed for. Mrs. Feifel took the first trash out on Tuesday, and her husband lived just long enough to recognize her when she reached his side at Pacific. Tuesday night her father, S. L. Kitchen, went on from St. Louis, and yesterday morning the remains were brought back to this city. The deceased was a young man, and leaves a wife and one child.

THE smoke will have to go before the cyclone of popular opposition which is rapidly gathering.

QUAY'S threat that he will make it hot for his enemies would have sounded better if uttered before he made it so hot for his friends.

THE punishment of the boodlers, justice jugglers and lottery rascals and the abatement of the smoke nuisance will give this city a clear moral and physical atmosphere.

THE chief interest of the United States in the Honduras revolution lies in the presence of Minister MIZNER in Central America and the opportunity it gives him to blunder again.

THE report that Senator QUAY will resign the Chairmanship of the Republican National Committee gives good Republicans occasion to join in the jubilation over the late landslide.

THE attempt to cut Republicans out of the observance of Thanksgiving Day should be limited to the bosses of the party. The voters have good cause for heartfelt thanksgiving.

PENNSYLVANIA was lost to the Republicans by the defeat of QUAY, but PLUMB, PADDOCK and PETTIGREW were saved. They would all have been excommunicated if QUAY had been victorious.

A DECISION of the Supreme Court on the REED quorum rule would be of no value now, in view of the decision of the people that a Speaker who makes and enforces such a rule cannot hold the Speakership.

THE Republican bosses not only manufactured a working Republican majority in the present Congress, but they made a double Democratic majority for the next Congress. They are a remarkable set of men.

THE causes of the recent flurry in Wall street have been puzzling the country, but the report that Mr. GOULD has acquired control of the Union Pacific, has increased his holdings of Missouri Pacific stock and has made a satisfactory deal with the Atchison ought to throw some light on the subject.

THERE is no doubt whatever that ex-Boss QUAY could give some interesting information to the country should he decide to talk. He may not be able to clear his own reputation, but he could make it appear better by distributing the stains among the reputations of his political associates.

THE Democrats of LODGE'S district claim that there is good ground for a contest over his seat in the House. The unseating of LODGE would cap the climax of the political situation, but his absence from the House would be a serious loss to Democracy, which he has served so well with his force bill and rabid speeches.

MOORE, COCKRELL and TAUBERNACH, the three independent representatives of the Farmers' organization, will be in a very painful position if they should hold the balance of power between parties in the Illinois Legislature. Whether they elect PALMER or defeat him, they cannot escape calumny from the organs of one or the other party. If, by holding aloof and voting for a candidate of their own, they prevent the election of either party's candidate, they will simply give a Republican Governor a chance to appoint a Senator, and thus not only take the election out of the hands of the present Legislature, but defeat the new movement to secure the nomination of candidates for the Senatorship to the voters of their respective parties. A balance of power in the hands of three men is a possession very dangerous and almost sure to prove fatal to the new organization they represent.

THE late election leaves it still an open question whether the good work some campaign committees do fully compensates a party for the bad work of its other campaign committees. The credit accorded to QUAY in such lavish measure for the Republican victory in 1888 has been utterly demolished by the defeat of 1890, and FILLEY'S work in St. Louis has met with the same reversal of credit. The greatest victory the Democrats ever won seems to be largely due to the utter inaction of BRICE'S and FLOWER'S committees, and the profound scheming, the far reaching organization and the tremendous activity of the corresponding Republican committees, of which we have heard so much, were rewarded with the most crushing defeat the party ever incurred. That the Democratic success of St. Louis was obstructed and depressed by boodle committees, and was won in spite of those committees and by open war upon them, is a well known and undisputed fact.

THE recent election reduces the G. O. P. to the dimensions of a strictly sectional party, most woefully in the minority in the section to which it is confined. Upon the old North of war times it has lost its grip and now has a majority in the Congressional delegations of only six States that were in the war for the Union. Never before has it incurred a rebuke so emphatic, a defeat so disabling, and it is inconceivable that its leaders will persist in the programme which has plunged the party into such a predicament. No such idiotic Bourbonism has ever yet been displayed by the leaders of any American party.

THE chief point which the Irish representatives of the home rule party now in this country make is that money should not be sent for the relief of Irish famine sufferers in such a way that it can be diverted for the purpose of paying rack rent to Irish landlords and relieving the British Government of unpleasant responsibility. The point is well taken and the temporary withdrawal of the American Relief Committee's appeal shows that it is appreciated here. It should be made certain, however, that between the British politicians and the Irish politicians the poor Irish cotters are not left to starve.

SOME of the protection organs are moaning over the knocking out of alleged plans to establish tin-plate factories in this country by the Democratic victory. As the alleged tin-plate industry consisted chiefly in a deal by which an undeveloped Dakota mine was to be unloaded on foreign capitalists, and as the Democratic victory is likely to take an unjust tax from the dinner pails and kitchen utensils of the workingmen, the people will not share in the grief of the protection organs.

SPECULATION is already rife as to President HARRISON'S forthcoming message. The country instinctively recognizes the big opportunity which a big man in the White House would seize, and so the chief burden of the speculation is as to how much BLAINE'S cunning hand will have to do with the preparation of the message.

THE provision in the election law which required the Recorder of Voters to have four ballots printed for each voter was inserted doubtless without proper consideration of the effect of the Australian system. The voters for whom, under the old system, four ballots were a small allowance, found difficulty, under the new system, in casting one.

AN expert analysis made by WILLET & GRAY of the Sugar Trust's statement, shows that the monopoly made a net profit of $27,399,177, besides $1,000,000 spent on patents in less than three years of its existence. This was 20 per cent a year on a capitalization of $50,000,000, and 50 per cent a year on the money actually invested.

HONOR TO THURMAN

Seventy-Seventh Birthday Anniversary of the "Old Roman" of Ohio Democracy.

The City of Columbus in Gala Attire and Crowded With Visitors.

Ex-President Cleveland Calls on Judge Thurman Early This Morning—Compliments Exchanged by the Two Distinguished Leaders of the Democratic Party — Congressmen and Prominent Politicians Arrive to Attend the Grand Banquet To-Night—Speaker Reed's Seat in the Next House Will Not Be Contested — An Investigation Into the Election in His District to Be Demanded—The People's Party—Political News.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 13.—To-day marks the 77th anniversary of the birth of Allen G. Thurman, the "Old Roman" of Ohio Democracy, and the Democrats of the nation have made the occasion to pay homage to this distinguished mentor. At the Armory this evening 1,000 guests, representing the supreme intelligence and leadership of the party of the country at large, will be seated at the banquet to be given by the Thurman Club of this city to commemorate the occasion.

The city of Columbus is in gala attire to-day, and although the banquet is to constitute the only public ceremonies of the day, the entire city presents a scene of unusual activity. From the summit of the Capitol is proudly waving the stars and stripes and across the principal streets and in front of thousands of dwellings are suspended the flag of the nation and various banners and decorations. From early morning every incoming train brought to the city a contingent of prominent Democrats from abroad, and all day Judge Thurman has been the recipient of congratulatory calls. Ex-President Cleveland came in on an early train and at once proceeded to the Executive Mansion, where he is the guest of Gov. Campbell. An hour later United States Senator Calvin S. Brice arrived at the Mansion and the ex-President and himself made an early forenoon call on

THE DISTINGUISHED OHIOAN.

Gov. Campbell is still far from well, and it is doubtful whether he will be able to attend the banquet. The sunshine of the pleasant autumn day seems to have added vigor to the frame of the "Old Roman," who, as he shook the hand of Cleveland so warmly extended in congratulation, assured his caller that he had not felt so well for many months, and that he hoped still to weather a few more years.

"But," said he, "I have lived long enough to find myself more than appreciated by the many kind friends who have remembered me on this day, and no years could add to the warmth of the congratulations which they have showered upon me."

Mr. Cleveland assured the old Roman that the greetings of this day, which came from all quarters of the country, some extended in person, others and hundreds by wire, were but the spontaneous expression of a grateful people toward one whose proud and unswerving career had won for him the

VENERATION OF HIS PARTY.

"We hope, Judge," said Mr. Cleveland, "that you may yet be spared many years of usefulness to see the fullest fruition of your doctrines and your teachings."

Among the prominent Democrats who have arrived this forenoon are Congressmen Springer of Illinois, Mansur of Missouri, Outhwaite of Ohio, ex-Commissioner of Agriculture Colman of Missouri, Governor-elect Boyd of Nebraska, President Robert J. Smith of the Iroquois Club of Chicago, and Congressmen Duburrow and McGann of Illinois. The Iroquois Club of Chicago provoked a hearty cheer as they marched into the Neil House, each member decorated with an artistic badge, the insignia of the Illinois organization. Headed by Gen. Smith and Gov.-elect Boyd of Nebraska, the first call of the club was upon Congressman Springer, who was greeted as "Mr. Speaker" in indication of coming honors. The distinguished Illinois Congressman returned the salutation gracefully, but acknowledged his candidacy and hope of success for the Speakership of the Fifty-second Congress.

At 11 o'clock this forenoon a public reception took place at the Governor's office, where ex-President Cleveland met the many distinguished representatives of the party which acknowledged him as a leader.

The programme of toasts at the banquet to-night is:

Welcome—John J. Lentz, president of the Thurman Club. Toastmaster, J. H. Outhwaite. "Our Guest," response by Allen G. Thurman; "Citizenship in America," Grover Cleveland; "The Democratic Party in Relation to Future Public Economy," Thomas Ewing; "The Senate," Daniel W. Vorhees; "The Early Ohio Bar," R. A. Harrison; "The Young Democracy," Calvin S. Brice; "The American Statesman," John G. Carlisle; "Democracy in America," W. C. P. Breckinridge; "The House of Representatives," Wm. L. Wilson; "The Democracy of the Future," Don M. Dickinson; "The State of Ohio," Gov. James E. Campbell; "The Democratic Party," Henry Watterson.

Park Rink has been elaborately decorated, with loads of cedar, cut flowers and immense quantities of bunting and flags. The plates have been limited to 1,000. The Iroquois Club of Chicago has secured twenty-five plates, Don M. Dickinson of Detroit has secured twenty-five and Ashael Bush of Salem, Ore., with other Democrats of the Far West, have secured quarters. President Lentz will sit at the head of the table, with Mr. Thurman on his right and Mr. Cleveland on his left.

South Dakota Democratic.

PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 13.—In many of the counties the election on members of the Legislature has been so close that the official canvass was necessary to determine who was elected. Corrected returns received from about all the counties in doubt and it is beyond question that the Legislature is lost in both branches to the Republicans. The House will probably give four majority for the Democratic Independent-Fusionists, while the Senate will have not less than three, giving them seven majority on joint ballot to elect a United States Senator.

Won't Contest Reed's Seat.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 13.—A special to the Herald from Portland, Me., says: Democrats of the First Maine District have decided not to contest Reed's seat in the next House of Representatives. For a while there was some talk that this might be done if there was a good Democratic majority in the House. The leaders now contemplate an appeal to the House that a committee be sent down here to inquire into election methods.

The People's Party.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 13.—The People's party has had nothing to say about prohibition during the election, but the people are now clamoring to again test the justice and wisdom of the present law. There is no immediate way of ascertaining the complexion of the new Legislature in regard to prohibition as that platform was not generally introduced during the canvass of any of the successful candidates. It is thought that the farmers desire the continuance of the prohibitory laws.

Iowa Official Returns.

DES MOINES, Io., Nov. 13.—Complete official returns elect the entire Republican State ticket, including Luke for Railroad Commissioner. The vote for Secretary of State gives McFarland a plurality of 2,800, and the other Republican candidates range from 1,550 to 3,779.

Ingalls a Candidate.

ATCHISON, Kan., Nov. 13.—Senator Ingalls will be a candidate for re-election, so says W. J. Buchan, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee. In an interview yesterday Mr. Buchan expressed the above view of affairs and states that he is positive of Mr. Ingalls' re-election.

MRS. KERENS REFUSES.

The Wife of Mr. R. C. Kerens Will Not Appear in Court.

Mrs. R. C. Kerens refuses to appear in court. The Phœnix Planing Mill Co. supplied Charles L. Clements with materials to make some alterations and repairs in Mrs. Kerens' residence in Vandeventer place. He afterward refused to pay the bill, and the Phœnix Co. brought suit against him, Mrs. Fanny Kerens and R. C. Kerens, her husband. The case was assigned to Division No. 5 of the Circuit Court, in which Judge Daniel Dillon sits. Mrs. Kerens is a necessary witness and party, but the Sheriff's deputies experienced great difficulty in obtaining service on her, and the case went over four or five terms because of their failure to serve her. The door was always shut in the face of the deputy, and when the attorneys sent a smart young constable, who represented that he had a message from a dressmaker, the servants refused to admit him to Mrs. Kerens' presence. Service was obtained before last term by a deputy who lay in wait, and when the case came up for trial Dr. Mudd certified that the lady was ill and could not attend. The case was continued to the present term. The deputy sheriffs experienced the same difficulty in serving Mrs. Kerens as formerly and an office boy of the plaintiffs' attorneys undertook the job. He found Mrs. Kerens at the Good Shepherd bazaar and served her with a supœna. The case was set for trial yesterday; again Dr. Mudd certified that Mrs. Kerens was ill. To-day the plaintiff filed an application for change of venue, setting up that the defendants have an undue influence on the mind of Daniel Dillon, in consequence of which it would be impossible for the plaintiff to have a fair trial of his cause before him. The Judge will pass upon the matter to-morrow, probably granting the change desired.

Won't Leave Tennessee.

James L. Reeves to-day became an applicant for a divorce in the Circuit Court. His wife, Mamie F. Reeves, is in Cookville, Tenn., where they were married in September, 1888. Reeves in his petition says that to better his condition and to obtain steady employment as a book-keeper he came to St. Louis, but his wife refused to leave Tennessee, and still persists in her refusal. They have one child, which is with its mother in Tennessee.

Suits Filed To-Day.

Matthew Nolan to-day sued Wm. Glenn for $5,000 damages. He was in Glenn's employ as a journeyman painter on Aug. 25, when by reason of the failure of a support to a scaffold, on which he was working, he fell to the ground and broke his arm.

B. H. Henley this morning made an assignment of his stock of groceries at 3748 Page avenue and other property to Thomas Morris for the benefit of creditors. His assets are estimated to be worth $1,600.

Willis Thompson sued Louis N. Mann on a promissory note for $1,502.75.

Max Irmscher by his next friend, Ernestine Irmscher, sued the People's Railway Co. for $5,000 damages for personal injuries. His left foot was crushed by defendant's cars at Fourth and Chestnut streets.

Court Notes.

The will of Stephen Gardner of Hastings, Dakota County, Minn., was filed for record in the Probate Court, as part of the estate is in St. Louis.

A jury in Division No. 1 of the Circuit Court last evening brought in a verdict in favor of Lee Andrew Larue, a boy of 7, who sued, by his father, John Broesammle, a North Broadway shoemaker, for damages in the sum of $50. The boy entered Broesammle's yard with his sister one day last March. They were begging. A dog belonging to a boarder in Broesammle's house attacked the boy and injured him severely.

THE ZIEFLE FRAUDS.

Mrs. Keuscher's Claim for Insurance in No Way Connected With Them.

Messrs. Taussig and McCorkle take exceptions to the way the newspapers have of connecting the Ziefle insurance swindles with the efforts of Mrs. August Keuscher to recover the insurance on the life of her husband. "We admit that the means taken by Joe Whittaker, Bob Terry and Dave Goldberg to defraud the United States Benevolent Fraternity were most damnable," said Mr. McCorkle yesterday, "but even supposing that Keuscher was the man who personated Chas. Ziefle in the fraud, which was never proven, and another man is now under indictment for that personation, that is no reason for connecting Mrs. Keuscher with it and even if she had known of the fraud and had been implicated in it, that would not in the least lessen the U. S. B. F.'s liability for the insurance on her husband's death, as that is another matter entirely and not in the remotest connected with the Ziefle matter. The exposure of the Ziefle fraud took place in May, 1889, and that Keuscher was a member in good standing of Washington Lodge, U. S. B. F., up to August of that year and paid all of his assessments on time up to that month is admitted by the company, the only assessment in dispute being the due just before Keuscher hung himself, Aug. 16, 1889. Now, by order of the Circuit Court we were permitted to examine the records of the lodge, and we there found, as stated by Mrs. Keuscher and partly established by other facts, that the assessment in dispute had been paid and the money receipted for by the Grand Lodge at Baltimore. The company attempted to introduce another ground for defense, namely, that Keuscher had not only been suspended for non-payment of dues, but also expelled for his connection with the Ziefle frauds, but that was ruled out by the court and judgment was awarded Mrs. Keuscher for the full amount sued for, $2,054. The company took an appeal, claiming that the records of a secret society could not be used in evidence in a court, the Constitution of the State guaranteeing all secret societies protection in that regard. The Court of Appeals transferred the case yesterday to the Supreme Court because a constitutional question was involved in it. I have no fears, however, as to the outcome of the case, as we can prove beyond any question that the suspension of Ziefle, even granting that it is on the records of the society, would not affect his rights in the matter. Accepting as true the claim of the company that his last assessment was two or three days overdue when the alleged suspension took place, two-thirds of the members of the lodge were behind from six weeks to eight months in the payment of their assessments, and the members present at that lodge meeting could not suspend Keuscher without suspending themselves."

August Keuscher was a shoemaker and his life was insured for $13,000—$5,000 in the Northern Legion of Honor, $5,000 in the International Progressive Association, $2,000 in the United States Benevolent Fraternity and $1,000 in the American Legion of Honor. The two Legions of Honor paid the claims against them and those of the other two societies were resisted, one successfully, in Judge Thayer's court, the remaining one being the basis of the suit against the United States Benevolent Fraternity. One of the principal witnesses for the International Progressive Association was Joe Whittaker, and Messrs. Tausig and McCorkle seem to think that the criminal prosecution against him will now be dropped on account of services rendered. The prosecution against Goldberg was dropped, they say, for the same reason and Robert Terry, the only one of the trio convicted, is now out on bail pending the decision of his case by the Supreme Court.

Cotton Seed Ablaze.

The friction of a leather belt on a pulley at the works of the Cotton Seed Oil Co., 2735 Papin street, caused a blaze in the machinery about 9:30 o'clock this morning. The flames communicated to a pile of cotton seed near by, destroying material of the value of $100. An alarm was sent in from box 613 for the blaze.

SOCIETY'S SUMMARY.

THE EVENTS OF INTEREST IN THE SOCIAL WORLD THIS WEEK.

Mrs. Hamilton Daughaday Gives a Very Elegant Reception and Introduces One of Her Daughters to Society—Other Parties—Matrimonial Announcements—Society Gossip.

LUNCHEONS, teas, dinners and receptions are still holding high carnival, and form a pleasing accompaniment to the weddings and their attendant festivities. Mrs. Hamilton Daughaday opened the week with a charming reception in compliment to her daughters, Misses Annie and Ella Daughaday, the latter young lady making her debut upon that occasion. She is a pure blonde of the Saxon type, petite and pretty, with pleasing manners and bright and sparkling in conversation. She is quite a musician, and has a decided taste for literature, and writing. Only young people were invited to this reception.

On Tuesday Mrs. Given Campbell threw open her hospitable house to her friends, whom she entertained with true Southern cordiality. The occasion was the introduction into society of her pretty young daughter, Miss Given Campbell. Mrs. Campbell had with her her mother, Mrs. Robert K. Woods, who was one of the most notable of the society leaders of the ante-bellum days. On the same day Mrs. Orr of the South Side gave a delightful reception to her lady friends.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Henry J. Meyer gave a luncheon at her handsome new home on Russell avenue, which was lovely in its floral decorations. There were 100 guests who were served at thirty tables, occupying the reception-room, parlor and dining-room. The place for each guest was indicated by a hand-painted sachet, on which was inscribed the name. A very elaborate menu was served in courses, while an orchestra rendered a choice selection.

Last evening at 8 o'clock Miss Louise Danbor Baker of Thirty-fourth and Walnut streets was married to Mr. George H. Hutchinson of this city.

The ceremony took place promptly at the hour appointed, in the presence of the immediate family connections of the contracting parties, Rev. Dr. R. P. Farris of the Presbyterian Church officiating. The bride, a sweet-looking girl with dark hair and brown eyes, wore a simple but elegant bridal gown of soft white veiling draped with mousseline de soie and elaborately trimmed with narrow white ribbon, the corsage en V, filled with soft lace and finished about the edge with a cascade of the ribbon loops. A long white veil covered the robe and lace fastened to the soft braids of brown hair by pearl pins, and a posey of nephritos roses completed the costume.

There were no attendants, and the young couple, after receiving the good wishes of their respective relations, left for their own home, which was ready for their reception, at 2919½ Park avenue. They will be at home to their friends on Thursdays in December at the above mentioned number.

PROF. KOCH'S REMEDY.

AMERICAN PHYSICIANS REFRAIN FROM EXPRESSING THEMSELVES ON ITS MERITS.

A Few Venture to Guess at the Nature of Koch's Lymph—Dr. Hope Says the Medical Profession Is Anxious to Learn All About the Cure and Give It a Fair Trial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Prof. Koch's experiments with his newly discovered remedy, which he claims is a sure cure for consumption of the tuberculous variety, are watched with deep interest by American physicians. As yet the medical journals have published nothing concerning Dr. Koch and his discovery, and the physicians, having only the newspaper accounts to base their opinions on, have refrained from expressing themselves fully on the probable merits of the discovery. The case of lupus, which Dr. Koch showed to a select gathering of his colleagues in Berlin yesterday, if correctly reported in the cable dispatches, indicates that the lymph possesses remarkable potency. Lupus is a disease affecting the skin and membranes of the body and is much like tuberculosis. Like consumption, it has long come to be regarded as incurable. The more conservative doctors have paid little attention to what has been written about Mr. Koch's discovery and mainly because they do not wish to be discourteous to a physician of such great renown. Several of them placed themselves in rather unpleasant positions by taking up the suggestions of Prof. Brown-Sequard regarding his "Elixir of Life" before it had been fairly tried and they are loath to be caught in the same boat again. Only a few doctors are frank enough to admit that they have ventured a guess at the nature of Dr. Koch's lymph. They are of the opinion that it is a virus of the cow-pox variety which is used in vaccination, attenuated by inoculation upon a series of healthy calves, and then mixed with one of the metal salts. This is all conjecture, and the guessing doctors will under no circumstances allow their names to be USED FOR PUBLICATION.

Of; over a dozen or more physicians who were interviewed only one or two would say anything about it. Dr. S. G. Hope, one of the leading laryngologists, said yesterday that the American doctors as yet had manifested but little interest in the so-called new discovery of Prof. Koch for the reason that nothing definite was known about the method or theory of the discoverer.

"I have not heard my colleagues speak about the subject," said he, "although I am sure we are all anxious to learn all about it and give it a fair trial. The fact that Prof. Koch keeps his laboratory tightly closed against outside observers seems to indicate that he does not enjoy full confidence in the practical value of his discovery. I have read of a case or two in the newspapers in which the injections had been made with remarkable results; but such reports have very little interest to the professional observers, and until we get fuller details of these experiments from our scientific journals we will have to suspend judgment. The results claimed by Koch are so astounding that we cannot accept them without the most careful investigation. Inoculation is the most popular theory in vogue at present for the treatment of microbe disease and I take it that Koch has followed in

THAT GROOVE OF RESEARCH.

"In the last two or three years we have received several suggestions from the German observers for the cure of tuberculous disease. One in particular was sulphurated hydrogen, which was advanced as a sort of panacea. One after another the suggestions were proved to be far from what was claimed for them, and one of them turned out to be not only valueless but positively harmful. Thus it is that the American profession are slow in accepting new theories without the most rigid test.

"With their customary fairness the American physicians will give the discovery of Mr. Koch, who enjoys a high position in the ranks of his profession, a thorough trial, but not until they are fully informed upon the details of his method. When that will be I cannot say. Certain it is, however, that we are still in the dark and know nothing about Dr. Koch's doings."

Dr. J. Mount Bleyer, who was a delegate to the International Medical Congress held in Berlin last July, said: "I saw Dr. Koch last summer and spoke with him regarding many things about our profession, but he did not even intimate then that he was engaged upon the great work of his life. He read a paper at the session of the Congress. It was of a general nature, a sort of a review upon his great efforts in the germ world. Dr. Koch is a great observer, and while I am prepared to hear that he has made a wonderful discovery, until then you will excuse me if I prefer to suspend judgment."

In substance all the old doctors approached spoke in the same strain.

A Patient for Koch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Therese Lorens, a young German woman who arrived in this country in April last, is about to return to Germany. She is ill with consumption, and having read in a German paper of Dr. Koch's cure, determined to go to him and be treated while she has energy to travel.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—The lymph which Prof. Koch uses in the treatment of consumption cannot be long kept in fitting condition for use.

THE RESERVOIR LEAK.

An Exaggerated Report Made to Police Headquarters.

It was reported to the police this morning that a leak in the reservoir at Compton Hill had been permitted to flood Russell and Louisiana avenues. A POST-DISPATCH reporter visited the scene of the alleged embryo freshet and found the report to be a gross exaggeration of the state of affairs. One or two leaks, which have existed for years, are still running, and the drain pipes which were placed to carry off the water, have become clogged by the roots of willows growing into them. This can be remedied with little trouble by the workmen. The report was of such nature as to cause considerable agitation as it stated that there were several inches of water on the streets. Such a state of affairs would result disastrously to the property in that vicinity and cause great damage, so that great relief was felt at headquarters when the truth became known. The report was forwarded to the Water Commissioner's office this afternoon, where it was interred with the appropriate obsequies.

To the Work-house.

Judge Cady sent Wm. Hicks to the Work-house this morning in default of payment of a fine of $50 and costs which was imposed. The defendant was charged with disturbing the peace of Frank Suze. Both parties are colored, Hicks being employed in a saloon at Seventh and Clark avenue and Suze in the billiard hall at Sixth and Spruce. They have been at swords' points for months on account of being rivals for the affections of a Clabber alley coquette. On the evening of the 6th inst. they met on Seventh street between Clark avenue and Spruce. Suze was badly cut, his skull being laid bare by two vicious slashes across the front of the head. Hicks escaped, but was captured an hour later by Officers Schleifstein and Curtis. Suze will prosecute him in the Criminal Court. REIGN OF TERROR.

Thieves and Burglars Organized on Franklin Avenue.

One Shop-Keeper Stabbed in the Face and Another Assaulted.

While Trying to Protect a Neighbor's Property, E. Kistner, a Tailor, Is Seriously Cut and Wounded—Ernest Pulvermacher Assaulted by Two Thieves, but He Escapes With a Few Bruises After Knocking Them Down With His Fist—A Widow's Cash Drawer Stolen—An Exciting Chase on Franklin Avenue Last Night.

A "reign of terror" exists among the Franklin avenue shop-keepers, between Twentieth street and Lemingwell avenue, and the small dealers of the street stand in constant dread after dark of thieves who do not fear to walk into a store and help themselves or murderously attack those who would dare interrupt them. This feeling of alarm and unsafety though known to the police has only to-day been made public and then by chance, when it was learned that a tailor was stabbed and almost killed last Monday night on Franklin avenue, while trying to protect his neighbor's goods. A canvass among the storekeepers for an hour this morning brought to light a system of robbery practiced by of thieves, who ply their vocation without fear or restraint and so far with little interference. There always has been more or less pilfering and small thieving going on along Franklin avenue, where every shopkeeper display their wares on the sidewalk, but never have they suffered such great losses or stood in mortal dread of assassination while trying to protect their property.

The reign of terror began last Monday night when Mr. E. Kistner, a tailor at 2012 Franklin avenue, was stabbed in the face by a negro thief. B. Wakeman has a shoe store at 2009 Franklin avenue, almost directly across the street from the tailor shop. About 7:30 o'clock Monday night he was engaged cleaning his show-windows with a pole and chamois skin, and his front door was partly open. It was very dark outside, and very few lights were lit in the vicinity.

TWO NEGROES

passed in front of the store several times, but were not noticed by the shop keeper who was busy wiping the moisture from the glass and could see but dimly outside. According to the story of Mr. Kistner, who stood in his doorway across the street, one of the negroes walked up to the show window on the east side of Wakeman's door and hid himself behind a post. The other negro dropped on his hands and knees and crawling to the door pushed it open gently and walked inside. A case of fine shoes stood within a few feet of the door. Grabbing five boxes of these, each containing two pairs of shoes, he turned to go out, but Mr. Wakeman, who was standing but two feet away, turned and shouted. The negro dropped the boxes and rushed out. Wakeman following close at his heels. Mr. Kistner seeing what was going on, rushed across the street and was about to run in the store when the negro hidden behind the post, struck him a terrific blow in the neck and knocked him reeling into the gutter. He jumped to his feet and as he did so the negro but this time with a knife and the blade sunk deep into his face on the left side, under the eye, penetrating the nasal cavity. Both negroes made their escape. Mr. Kistner was carried home and is still confined to his bed. He is in constant agony from the wound and will probably lose his left eye. Mr. Wakeman said this morning he saw the negro standing at the doorway with the open knife in his hand and his arm raised as he rushed out in pursuit of the thief, and dodged to escape a blow from the weapon intended for him.

STRUCK HIM AGAIN,

About half an hour earlier on the same evening a lady saw a negro stoop in front of John Bloecher's shoe store, 2124 Franklin avenue, and pick up a case of men's rubber shoes, which he placed on his shoulder and ran off. She pointed him out to a neighbor and he followed the negro to a vacant house on Lucas place, near Twentieth street. The police were informed of the robbery, but did not discover the thief or find the property. During the noon recess yesterday some boys from the St. Nicholas School were playing in a vacant lot on Twenty-first and Washington avenue when they came upon hidden in an old vault. Mr. Bloecher's name was on the box and the boys told him of their find. The shoes were returned to the store.

On the same evening two negroes with sacks stopped in front of a small butcher shop on Franklin avenue near Lemingwell avenue and in a very leisurely manner proceeded to fill the sacks with nine hams, several rolls of butter and a quantity of lard. The robbery was not discovered until the clerks began taking in the goods.

MONEY DRAWER ROBBED.

A few minutes after this occurred, a cash drawer was stolen from Mrs. Bleshmann's butter and cheese store on Franklin avenue near Jefferson. She disappeared behind a partition in the rear of her store for a moment to put some coal in her stove, and on her return found the cash drawer gone. It contained a lot of receipts and papers, but only a few dollars in money. The thief had climbed the counter, jerked the drawer out, and, jumping over the counter again, he ran out and disappeared in a narrow passageway that leads to the tenement houses in the center of the block. The drawer has not been found and the thief is still at liberty.

It might have been the same thief who half an hour later stole a valuable black-and-tan dog from the shop door of Ernest Pulvermacher's hardware store, 2008 Franklin avenue, and sold him for 15 cents to a person whom Mr. Pulvermacher has pointed out to the police, but who is still at large, and can be seen on Franklin avenue every evening.

LAST NIGHT AGAIN.

Franklin avenue in the neighborhood of Twenty-first street was again thrown into an excited state about 7:30 o'clock last night by the report of revolvers and the forms of flying negroes and pursuing policemen. John Conway has a dry goods store at 2114 Franklin avenue and keeps a generous display in front of his store. A clerk in the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.'s store, 2108 Franklin avenue, saw four negroes standing on the sidewalk and went outside to protect his property. He heard one of the negroes say, "the boy is in the rear and no one is in front." At this three of the negroes started for Conway's store and as they passed, each grabbed something. The tea clerk saw the theft and raised a cry.

AN EXCITING CHASE.

Two of the negroes dropped their bundles, but one of them clung to two shawls he had taken and ran toward Twenty-second street. An officer was standing on the corner, and he cried to them to halt, but they did not. He fired in the air and the negro with the shawls dropped them, but continued running. The officer chased them and emptied his revolver in the air, fearing to shoot low on account of the crowd, but the thieves were too fleet for him and escaped.

The excitement caused by this incident had hardly subsided when a crowd was drawn to Twenty-first and Franklin avenue.

MR. PULVERMACHER'S EXPERIENCE.

About 8 o'clock Mr. Pulvermacher, the hardware dealer, heard the rumbling of a wheelbarrow in front of his store, and remembering the loss of a wheelbarrow, six coal hods and six ladders only a short time ago, he ran out to see the wheelbarrow. He saw a boy running down the street with one of his "snow" barrows and ran after him. He caught the boy before he reached the corner and was cuffing his ears when a tough looking citizen stepped from a dark hallway with a lantern in his hand and asked if the boy could not use a wheelbarrow for five minutes without being slapped like that. Mr. Pulvermacher let go of the boy, and turning on the new comer gave him a blow in the face that knocked him down. The fellow picked himself up and ran away.

Taking the boy by the collar, Mr. Pulvermacher led him to the corner of Twenty-first street and began whistling for an officer. A crowd soon gathered and while Mr. Pulvermacher stood waiting for the officer, a man—the same individual he had knocked down only a moment before—pushed through the crowd and struck Pulvermacher back of the ear, almost knocking him down. Pulvermacher released the boy again, and after warding off a blow aimed at his face, he struck his assailant and he went down. Again he picked himself up and ran off. Pulvermacher then looked for the boy, but he was gone also. While he was pushing the crowd aside in his search, another tough-looking citizen struck Pulvermacher back of the other ear and staggered him. Regaining himself, Pulvermacher landed two blows on the pal of his first assailant and then grappled with him. Both men went down and when Pulvermacher rose to his feet, the thug skipped from under him and ran up an alley close by. In less than three minutes Pulvermacher made the acquaintance or three members of the gang that have organized in the neighborhood and that carry on their nefarious business with the utmost daring.

NOTION STORE BURGLARIZED.

Their operations do not stop at sidewalk thefts. Last week a thief supposed to be one of the gang broke into R. G. Boone's notion store, 1924 Franklin avenue, and carried off about $50 worth of goods, besides upsetting the entire stock in the store. That there is a gang or several gangs is beyond question, as in nearly every instance where the thieves were seen stealing one or two men were on guard to give warning.

This morning a negro boy, evidently new at the business of stealing, offered Mr. Pulvermacher a new ratchet drill, worth several dollars, and asked what he could get for it.

THE FIRST PRISONER.

Mr. Pulvermacher told him to wait a moment, and, going outside, called an officer who happened to be in sight, and had the boy arrested. He gave his name as Joseph Washington and said he lived at 2124 Franklin avenue, in the rear. The police searched the premises, but failed to find anything. The boy admitted having a "pal," but refused to give his name. His arrest, however, may give a clew to the discovery of the headquarters of the gangs that hold away in the neighborhood if the police care to be stir themselves or try to relieve the shopkeepers of the feeling of unsafety that now prevails. A butcher near Lemingwell avenue said this morning that he had not seen an officer for two months any time during the day and he had kept on the lookout for one.

AMONG THE BROKERS.

A Good Market—Stocks Sold and Prices Obtained To-Day.

The mining market was fairly strong to-day, and sales were above the average in amount.

The surprise of the morning was the listing of Elizabeth. The fact that this stock was to appear on the call had been decided several days ago, but the directors had kept very quiet about it. Nearly everyone was therefore surprised when it was called this morning. The market opened strong $2.20 being bid, but there was more stock for sale at this figure than buyers could be found for, and after 500 shares had changed hands the price fell to $2.17½. At the latter figure transfers were remarkably large, no less than 2,700 shares changing hands and more being wanted. The market closed at $2.17½ bid, $2.20 asked. The listing of Elizabeth will probably put an end to the curb. No session was held to-day.

Silver Age was strong, but sales were not large; 100 shares brought $2.12½, and an equal amount was sold at $2.15, the last transfer being one of 200 shares at $2.12½, seller 60.

Central Silver was weak. The market opened with a sale of 100 shares at 31¼, the price immediately dropping to 20. At the latter quotation the sales were very large, 3,500 shares changing hands.

Adams was stronger, and 200 shares brought $1.95. American rose to 75, at which 100 shares were sold; 100 Mickey Breen brought $1.45.

The management of the Kansas City Humboldt Mining Co. have about completed arrangements with the Sheridan Mendota people for the use of their cross-cut and levels into their ore."

ADVANCE IN STOCKS.

Both the New York and London Markets Strong To-Day.

The Banks Combine Forces to Put a Stop to the Panic.

A Weak Opening, Followed by an Increase of Strength All Along the Line—A Flurry in North American That Was Checked—Explanation Given for Some of the Bank Failures—A Better Feeling Made Manifest in England—Worthless Securities Accepted by Some Banks—Prices Better, but Confidence Not Yet Restored.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.

THE strong tone of yesterday's market led to the belief that prices would open much higher to-day, but the contrary proved to be the case, as at the opening there was a marked downward tendency. The weakness of the market was mainly due to the raid on North American, and was assisted by a temporary decline in American securities on the London Stock Exchange.

THE MARKET REVIVES.

The stock market opened excited and weak. North American opened 2⅜ points lower at 16, and on enormous sales declined to 8 and then rallied to 13 and again reacted to 12. The general list showed on the opening a decline of from ½ to 2½ per cent.

The market became comparatively quiet and the general list, after a fractional decline from the opening, recovered. The lowest point touched by North American was 7. The tone of the market is firm to strong and a steady advance is in progress.

The North River Bank did not open its doors and resume business at 10 o'clock this morning as some expected it would. The cashier stated that although the bank officials felt sure that it would pull through all right, it could not resume business for several days to come. Assistant State Bank Examiner Cahill said that a statement of the condition of the bank's affairs would be ready about noon to-day.

STOCKS IN LONDON.

Later advices from London were more favorable. Prices on the London Stock Exchange, as compared with yesterday's closing prices showed an advance of 1 1-16 for consols for money, no change of consols for the account, an advance of ⅝ for A. & G. W. firsts, no change for A. & G. W. seconds; an advance of ⅝ for Canadian Pacific, an advance of ½ for Erie, a decline of 2½ for Erie second consols which are quoted ex-interest, an advance of 1 for Illinois Central, an advance of 2 for St. Paul common, an advance of 1½ for New York Central, a decline of 1⅜ for Pennsylvania which is quoted ex-dividend an an advance of ¾ for Reading.

THE MECHANICS AND TRADERS'.

M. Thalmessinger, President of the Mechanics and Traders' Bank, was seen. He said that the statement that the Mechanics and Traders' Bank had been compelled to go to the Clearing-house for assistance was not true. "Our bank is so far up town that it is inconvenient to attend personally at the Clearing-house every morning. For that reason we employ the Fulton Market Bank to clear us. Yesterday morning there was an account against us in the Clearing-house for $199,000. We had, however, $210,000 to our credit in the Fulton Market Bank. That bank claimed we had not sufficient margin and detained the payment that was needed to clear us. Our cashier laid the matter before the Clearing-house Committee. Mr. Uppon, the chairman, gave the Fulton Market Bank ten minutes time to make the payment we asked. It was done perfectly easy as to money and can meet every call that is made on us."

CONCERTED ACTION PROPOSED.

The railroad situation in the West has reached a crisis. Holders of railroad stocks who have suffered in pocket, even though the volume of railroad business has swelled to larger proportions than ever before, feel that something must be done. The rolling stock of all the roads is taxed to its utmost capacity and yet, owing to the warfare in rates, the earnings fall short of what the unprecedented business warrants.

The frequent conferences that Mr. Jay Gould has had of late with Drexel, Morgan & Co. and with representatives of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe interests, have much significance. They foreshadow a railroad movement of greater scope and importance than anything of the kind heretofore undertaken.

A circular will be issued to-day or to-morrow requesting the men most prominently identified with the Western and Southwestern railroads to meet soon in conference at the residence of Mr. J. Pierrepont Morgan in this city. It is understood that Mr. Morgan has taken this matter in hand at the earnest solicitation of men who have many millions of dollars invested in Western railroad properties.

The conclusion seems to have been reached that the present situation calls for some such concerted action as that of two years ago. The Western railroad business it is pointed out, is in part being frittered away because of a lack of harmony. Mr. Morgan's circular is evidence that strong financial interests, aroused to the necessity of protecting valuable railroad property, are about to adopt measures that will go beyond the scope of "Gentlemen's Agreement," and endeavor to establish a more complete and lasting cure for the rate-cutting evil.

The market outside of North American was not specially active, and with the absence of special pressure to sell came a material reaction, North American going back to 11¾ and settling to about the level of 11 for the remainder of the hour. The confident feeling was soon restored and the activity increased toward the end of the hour while prices advanced more rapidly, the gains over the lowest prices of the early dealings extending to 2½ per cent, C., C. & St. L., Reading, Atchison, Northern Pacific preferred, Louisville and Rock Island being most prominent in the upward movement which carried most of the list beyond the prices of last evening. The market was active and strong at the highest figures of the hour.

NORTH AMERICAN STATEMENT.

The following statement is authorized by the officials of the North American Committee: "The reports as to the condition of the North American Co. are unfounded and extremely unjust. The company has no outstanding call obligations and its time loans are held by comparatively few persons and institutions of great financial strength and are abundantly secured by collaterals which even at the panic prices prevailing during the last few days could have been sold for a sum sufficient to pay all its obligations and leave a large and substantial surplus to the credit of the company. The company has also a large amount of valuable assets in its treasury which are not pledged at all and always has been perfectly solvent. Owing to the feverish and uncertain condition of the market it was thought wise to call the creditors together in order to get their assurances that the assets of the company pledged to them as collateral would not be sacrificed. These assurances have been cheerfully given and a committee of the creditors has been appointed to co-operate with the officials of the company in preventing any needless sacrifice of its securities. The creditors were called together simply to satisfy them on the sound condition of the company and to obtain their co-operation. The company has made no assignment and intends to make none."

The stock market in London closed better. New York took all the stocks thrown on the market, causing a firm tendency.

Prices on the Stock Exchange as compared with those at the close yesterday show an advance of 11-16 for consols for money; no change for consols for the account; an advance of ⅝ for Atlantic & Great Western first mortgage trustees' certificates; no change for do second mortgages; an advance of ⅝ for Canadian Pacific; an advance of ½ for Erie; a decline of 2½ for do second consols, which are quoted ex-interest; an advance of 1 for Illinois Central; an advance of 2 for St. Paul common; an advance of 1½ for New York Central; a decline of 1⅜ for Pennsylvania, which is quoted ex-dividend, and an advance of ¾ for Reading.

Money is tight at 12 per cent. The active business was sustained in the stock market after 11 o'clock, but the high prices of the first hour were not surpassed and a declining tendency was developed. Only a portion of the early advance was lost, however, through Northern Pacific preferred declining 1¼ to 62; C., C. & St. L., 1 to 62; North American, 2 to 10. The Villards were most active, but Reading, St. Paul and the other Grangers were still prominent in the dealings, which does not reach the totals of the past few days. The downward movement made further progress in the Villards later in the hour, and North American retired to 9, but the general list was fairly well held; and at noon the market was active and steady, generally at small fractions better than the opening prices.

A FEVERISH MARKET.

The early prices for stocks, both in London and in the market, were lower. The effect of the suspension of the North River Bank at the close of business yesterday, together with the understanding arrived at after the close of yesterday's market, that the losses of the North American Co. would require it to be wound up. But later when it was known that the fortnightly settlements in London had been completed without a failure, and that the Bank of England rate of discount remained unchanged at 6 per cent, instead of being advanced to 7, as was feared in London yesterday, and also that rates for money in the open market there remain steady at 5½ per cent, there was a general recovery and by 11:30 o'clock nearly every stock on the list except North American was up to last night's prices and many of them above, notably Northern Pacific preferred, Reading, Western Union, Rock Island, Manhattan, Northwestern and several others.

All sorts of stories are going around Wall street in regard to the affairs of North American. It is reported that the company's assets have all been pledged to secure debts, and that nothing remains for the stockholders. The officials of the company in reply to this say that the company is solvent. It is not denied by the creditors that the company is solvent, that is, that its assets exceed or are equal to its liabilities, but the reports affecting the stock are that the company will have so little left after its debts are paid that it will be impossible to continue its existence.

The officers of the company state that they are working now on a statement which they will give to the public later in the day.

FLIMSY STOCKS.

The Vaults of the North River Bank Contain a Bag Full.

By Private Wire to Gaylord, Blessing & Co.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13, 9 a. m.—After 3 o'clock yesterday stocks were offered in the street by bearish room traders half a point below the market closing sales, including St. Paul and North America, under the influence of the closing up of the North River Bank by the Clearing-house examiners, who posted a notice on the doors at 2:55 p. m. reading, "temporarily closed." There had been a good run on it all day and the Clearing-house had supplied it with $95,000. The investigation will show that the North River Bank has been lending money upon a batch of securities and the vaults of the bank contain a bag full of very flimsy stocks. One of the examiners said last evening that the books and financial entries were greatly tangled up, and it would take a week to unravel them; but they promised at the bank last evening that all checks out would be honored to-day, which is very doubtful. There was also a run on the Mechanics & Traders' Bank yesterday at 486 Broadway. There was no run on the Bank of North America, and the President only took $900,000 of the new Clearing-house certificates. There was an annoying crowd of idlers around the Bank of North America about 3 p. m., which led to a story of a run on this institution, and the officers of the bank were much excited. Decker, Howell & Co. still insist that Villard is in no way to blame for the collapse in North America, but, generally, Henry's friends begin to think that he has tricked them all and he will never be able to get up another blind pool in this country.

LONDON, 9:10 a. m.—No change in the Bank of England rate.

LONDON, 10 a. m.—The proportion of reserve to liability is 33.25 against 34.90 last week, and 41.41 last year. Bullion in the Bank of England decreased this week £407,000, and reserve decreased £101,000.

NEW YORK, 11 a. m.—It looks as if there would be a lot of litigation with North American. A great many people talk of holding directors responsible for it. It is a nasty mess.

NEW YORK, 11:30 a. m.—It is a liquidating market; there is no doubt about that, and it is impossible to do anything on a market that is almost wholly given up to rumors, upon which traders buy and then investigate them.

CHICAGO, 11:40 a. m.—We get from reliable sources that the Illinois Central has not earned but 1¾ per cent towards its dividend this year; it is paying 6 per cent.

LONDON, 4 p. m.—Closing prices in London: Atchison, 32¼; Lake Shore, 109¼; Erie, 20½; Reading, 17⅛; Louisville & Nashville, 75⅛; St. Paul, 51; Union Pacific, 49¾.

NEW YORK, 12:10 p. m.—The stock market throughout the forenoon has been alternately weak and strong, the strong spots exceeding the weak ones. The chief element of weakness has been North America, which, after opening at a decline of 2 per cent, rapidly fell 9 per cent further, selling as low as $7 per share. This great break in the price of this stock is due to the fact that the company has virtually admitted its insolvency by placing its affairs in the hands of its creditors. Little can be learned of its real condition, but probably further developments will be made later in the day. The London market lost its influence on the downside of prices at the opening, but a rally in the general list of railway shares followed early low prices. The market is now steady, but apprehensive, rather waiting for developments. Money rates are easier, being 10 per cent.

NEW YORK, 12:40 p. m.—N. S. Jones and Wales & Co. are selling Sugar, P. J. Jones, C. M. Goodhart, Schott & Oliver selling St. Paul.

CHICAGO, 12:50 p. m.—New York Exchange 90 cents discount. Chicago banks still drawing money from New York; rates for money here 7 to 8 per cent.

Gaylord, Blessing & Co., 307 Olive Street.

We are connected by private wire with New York and Chicago, and execute orders for the purchase and sale of railroad stocks and bonds for cash or on margin; also grain and provisions. Our facilities for obtaining quick and reliable information are unsurpassed.

The North American Co.

The North American Co., which has come into such sudden prominence by the decline of its stock from 55 to 8, is but little known here, and it was not very generally known anywhere until it became such a disturbing element on the Stock Exchange. Mr. Lil McNair speaking of it to-day said: "The North American Co. took the place of the Oregon Transcontinental Co., which Villard controlled when he failed. Villard is the head of this company, and he and his followers, Decker and those men, are the ones most interested. Its capital was $50,000,000, and I think they put out $40,000,000.

"The company was chiefly interested in Villard stocks, such as Northern Pacific and Edison electric stocks. The plan was to control all the Edison electrical inventions, the Sprague motors and such inventions as that. The stocks in which the company is interested have all declined, which, of course, partly accounts for its decline, but they have not fallen off enough to justify any such drop as that of the North American from 55 to 8. It closed at 18¾ last night and to-day went down to 8. The decline cannot be explained on the ground that the other stocks have fallen, for that would not account for it all. I think this is about the last of blind pools and trusts. It is hard enough to find out what a corporation is doing with a stockholder's money, but it is impossible to find out what a blind pool is doing. People have lost confidence in them, and they will not back them up. The trusts are all being reformed into corporations, and the blind pools are about dying out. I think this one is about the last."

Southwestern Association Meeting.

The rate committee of the Southwestern Railway and Steamship Association is again in session to-day. A great deal of the morning session was consumed by the committee appointed yesterday to consider the proper basis for a salt tariff from the various producing points, and the committee's report was considered at length. The other subjects discussed at the full meeting were the rates to Houston and Galveston from St. Louis and the rates on hard coal and coke from various points. Neither subject was entirely disposed of. The meeting entered upon its afternoon session at 2:30 p. m., and is now in progress. To-morrow evening the meeting will adjourn.

At the session of the Grand-jury held this morning, three ignored bills were returned. Joseph Murphy was charged with attempted grand larceny in attempting to steal a gold watch from Gilbert Daniel, while the latter stood in the rotunda of the Grand Opera-house. James Devaney was charged with attempting to criminally assault Katie Mulqueen, 1516 Menard street. Charles Closter, J. W. Reynolds and Wm. Schneider were charged with fraud, in obtaining $95 from Mary Brown, 1010 Vine street, by means of false representations. Murphy was the only one of the defendants who was in jail. He has been released.

Meade Will Be Deputy Coroner.

Coroner-elect Irwin to-day received word from Chas. E. Meade that he would take the deputyship tendered him. This leaves the clerkship and morgue superintendency still to be filled. Charley Jenkins, the colored Democrat, who served as assistant superintendent of the morgue under Coroners Nidelet and Fraser, will be restored to his old position. Dr. Irwin is now preparing to take charge of the office.

A politician, who claims to know, said to-day that when Mayor Noonan asked the nomination of Dr. Irwin for Coroner he had no idea that he would be elected, his only object being to bring him out prominently preparatory to placing him in charge of one of the city institutions next spring.

Stores and Stocks Damaged.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Fire this forenoon in the block adjoining the First Presbyterian Church on South Salina street damaged the stocks of A. A. Graff, furniture; Frank Diel, house furnishing goods; Woolworth's ten-cent store and others to the extent of $75,000. The fire caught in the fifth floor of Graff's store at 9 o'clock this morning. BARR'S Daily bargain talks. Some folks are always hitting the nail on the thumb. If it's a bargain you're trying to drive, the first thing to do is to find the right place—in other words, to find Barr's. You want the biggest bargain in St. Louis in dress goods? It is at Barr's. You get for 20 cents plaids, stripes and figures that look as if they cost about double. A smooth twill goods, soft like cashmere, with a delicate stripe; plaids, in the quiet street shades; in solids, yard-wide stripes. All wool; a nice warm stuff for wrappers and children's dresses, and nothing more serviceable. At 29 cents, yard-wide habit suiting; plain at 25 cents. All-wool tricot, 36 inches wide, at 25 cents, and yard-wide all-wool checks at 30 cents; this comes in all the best shades, and is a handsome fabric. At 24 cents a yard is a wool-mixed plaid specially nice for children's dresses, as it washes so well.

In novelties there is a new Scotch cheviot in invisible plaids at $1.75 a yard. Quite the newest of the fuzzy-faced cloths for tailor suits. The moral of all this is that Barr's is the place to buy dress stuffs.

Now, didn't we tell you we'd give the prettiest wall pocket design you ever saw? May be done on the new canvasses, art crash, linen, huckaback or felt, and is prettiest worked in silks. Shades—rose pink, olive, reddish drab and dull olive, also white in the petals. We will stamp this in 9-inch size for 10 cents, or in 16-inch for 25 cents, and will furnish all materials.

BARR'S, St. Louis.

ADVANCE STATEMENT OF THE EXPORT OF BEEF AND HOGS.

Maj. Brock's Figures Showing the Condition of the Trade—Reports of Depredations by British Vessels on the Seal Islands—Mrs. Watkins Reinstated—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—The advance statement of the exports of domestic cattle and hogs and of beef, hog and dairy products from the United States for the month of October, 1890, has just been rendered to the Secretary of the Treasurer by S. G. Brock, Chief of the Bureau of Statistics. The total values of such exports amounted to $11,340,574, as against $9,904,019 for the corresponding period in 1889. During the month the cattle shipped numbered 28,959 and hogs 2,786, as against 31,546 and 3,580 respectively for the same month of 1889. There were 12,283,288 pounds of canned beef products, 14,827,698 pounds fresh beef and 10,989,152 pounds of salt and pickled beef exported during October. There were 433,115,513 pounds of bacon and 6,262,137 of ham exported and 1,968,300 of butter and 7,327,250 of cheese. There was a noticeable falling off in exports of the above kind during October, 1890, over the same month in 1889.

Mrs. Watkins Re-Instated.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Postmaster-General Wanamaker has sent a letter to City Postmaster Sherwood, directing the re-instatement of Mrs. Margaret S. Watkins, the delivery clerk at the Post-office, who was, last Thursday, temporarily suspended for telling Senator Quay's son that his father's mail went to the dead letter office now. In his letter to Postmaster Sherwood, dated to-day, Postmaster General Wanamaker says:

"I have to-day your letter of the 11th, making explanations in the case of Mrs. Watkins; also the letter of your superintendent, who admits that the improper remark originated with him and that during all of these years of service in the Washington Post-office he never did anything to cause him so much regret. While such discourtesies bring discredit upon the entire postal service and are greatly to be regretted, I accept the statement of both Mrs. Watkins and Mr. Bell that they intended no offense, and Mrs. Watkins may return to her position immediately. I insist that all postal employes shall be courteous and obliging at all times. Those who pay for postal facilities have a right to demand as much as this of all of us."

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Presidential postmasters were to-day appointed as follows: T. H. Leggett, Merced, Cal., vice L. A. Manchester, commission expired; Chas. J. Nicholas, Georgetown, Colo., vice James W. Forest removed; Walter C. Matthews, Odebolt, Io., vice Frank P. Molle resigned; John H. Woolf, Mankato, Kan., vice E. P. Bancroft, commission expired.

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain and Flour.

Wheat—Although the tenor of last night's press remarks from New York was more hopeful and assured, yet the financial skies were by no means cloudless this morning. Stocks were lower and one or two largely lower, and there were vague intimations of further trouble ahead. These were so disappointing to those looking for improved times that would give wheat a chance to work on its own merits and which they confidently expected would be upward, that a big feeling of disgust not unmixed with alarm was the result. The Cincinnati Price Current's statement that complaints of Hessian fly were only local and not justifying serious concern, smothered the talk of fly damage that has been heard for some time. Liberal receipts at spring wheat points, including 177 cars at Chicago and 607 at Duluth and Minneapolis were depressing factors, though our own were small, but the liquidation going on here in Dec. had a weakening effect and caused a heavy feeling to prevail. There were no new features in foreign cables, which merely quoted quiet and steady markets for spot and firm for futures and Atlantic ports clearances were very light—9,500 pkgs flour and 21,000 bu wheat. Speculation was still light, as there was little outside trade and local talent were not inclined to plunge while the financial situation was so shaky. The news that came in as the day advanced, was not consoling to the longs. Kansas State Board reported a wheat crop 4,200,000 bu in excess of previous estimates. Second cables read: "Holders firm, but buyers indifferent," and monetary affairs did not seem to improve. These were awful wearing upon men who had wheat bought, but more wearing than anything was the growing difference between Dec. and May that brought up the old-time bugaboo—carrying charges. The market became very sick and broke away smartly finally, selling off 1½c, 1¾c below the crop. An attempt to rally it and the price was put up, a little, but there was no snap to it and the close was heavy and weak at about 2c below yesterday.

Dec. opened at 96⅛c and sold to 96c, to 96⅛@¼c, off to 95¼c, to 95⅜@½c, to 94½c, to 95c, to 94⅝@⅞c, to 94⅞c, and at close offered at 94⅜c. May opened at $1.04⅛ and sold off to $1.03⅞, to $1.04⅛ to $1.03¾ to $1.04⅛@¼ to $1.03¾ to $1.03⅞ @1.05 to $1.02⅞ to $1.02⅞@1.03 to $1.02⅝ to $1.02⅞ to $1.02½ and latter bid at close. July sold at 92½c early to 91⅝c late. SPOT GRADES were lower and quiet. Offerings were small, even of No. 2 red, which was chiefly bought for milling, a Southern order buyer taking a little. After futures broke down cash No. 2 red was not salable at call prices, and at close not worth over 94c. All other grades were dull, particularly hard wheat. Sales—No. 2 red—1 car regular at 94⅜c, 2 in St. L. and 3 in C. at 95c, 4 in Cdlt. at 95¼c; on call, 95⅜c bid E. side. No. 2 hard—2 cars in C. at 89½c; bid 90c for St. L., 91c for Cdlt., none offered. No. 3 hard offered at 88c and for this side 86c bid. No. 3 red offered regular at 92½c bid, 91c and 91½c bid for St. L. and M., 92c for Cdlt., 92½c for E. side. No. 4—89c bid E. side. SAMPLES—Very little offering and there was but a light demand with prices at about yesterday's range. Sales: Special bin—1 car No. 3 at 94c. East track—1 car No. 2 at 97½c. In store—1,000 bulk at 96c. Sacks—38 at 75c, 70 at 92c, 80 at 95c, 73 at 96c.

Corn—Extremely light receipts, very little of which stopped, and firm and higher cables were not regarded, with stocks weaker and wheat declining. The "Price Current's" favorable report and the splendid weather were also on the side of lower prices. There was no push to sell, but there was an absence of demand, except that coming from shorts, that caused the moderate selling of this to shove the price down ⅛c. There was a recovery under increased buying, an exporter being conspicuous in taking a small lot or so, and for a time the market presented a strong front, but when wheat was at its weakest the bears were emboldened to reach corn, and meeting little opposition in the shape of a demand, broke the price sharply. Subsequently there was little recovery, and the close was ¼c lower than yesterday.

May opened at 51¼c and sold to 51¼@⅜c off to 51⅛c (was offered then at 51c and unsold), rallied to 51⅜@½c; declined to 50¼c, reacted to 50⅜c and late fell to 50¾c at which it closed. Nov. sold at 50c and Dec. at 49¼c, but neither worth near those rates at close. SPOT GRADES were dull, heavy and lower. There was a light order and local demand that called for special houses this side, but East Side stock at ½c decline was slow sale and offered in U. at 51c without buyers. Sales—No. 2—1 car in St. L. at 53c, 1 in U. at 51½c, 1 in do at 51¾c, 1 in do at 51c; bid 50c for regular and 52c for M. No. 2 white—1 car regular at 52¼c. No. 3—1 car in St. L. at 52¼c; bid 52c for C., 52½c for M. No. 3 white—51c bid for U., 51½c for this side. No. 4 white—50c bid regular. SAMPLES firm and ready sale. Sales—1 car No. 3 white E. track at 52c, 1 do and 1 new No. 2 E. track at 52½, 1 St. Charles North Market track at 54¾c, 304 sks white (sks in) at 57c. Sacked lots on orders, 62@64c.

Oats—Trading was extremely light and confined to the early part of the session. Then the feeling was strong and May sold at 46⅛c to 46¼c, one party taking 100,000 bu at 46¼c. Subsequently there was a decline along with wheat, and at close there were sellers at 45⅞c and no buyers. SPOT GRADES were not offered. On Call the bids for No. 2 were 46¼c for regular; for No. 3, 45c for regular and 45½c for U.; No 2 white, 49c for regular, 50c for E. side. SAMPLES—Offerings were small and there was a good active demand from the local dealers. Prices were again higher on No. 2 and 3 white and steady on all others. Sales: 3 cars No. 3 at 48c, (more offered at that and unsold), 2 No. at 48c, 1 light Norther mixed short storage at 48½c, 8 Northern mixed at 49c, 1 do at 49½c, 1 No. 3 white at 51c, 2 No. 2 do at 52c. Sacked lots on orders, 53@54c.

Rye—Scarce and strong. Sales—2 cars E. side at 73c to fill orders, and for this side 72½c bid. No. 3 offered in U. at 71c and 70c bid.

Barley—Market quiet, but firm. Sales: 5,000 bu Minnesota to arrive at 74c.

We quote: Medium at 60@65c, prime at 65@70c, choice at 70@75c, fancy at 75@80c.

Flour—There was a very dull market, with light trading. Buyers were demanding concessions, which sellers were slow to concede. Sales: Bbls—150 at $3.45, 150 at $3.50, 300 at $4.80, 450 p. t.

Quotations range: XXX, $3@3.10; family, $3.25@3.35; choice, $3.50@3.75; fancy, $4.15@4.25; extra fancy, $4.50@4.60; patents, $4.90@5. Prices for lots on levee and on this side.

Hay—Offerings fair and there was a good demand for the best grades of both timothy and prairie, while the low grades continued dull. Sales: Trk this side—Timothy—1 car strictly prime at $11, 1 strictly prime to choice at $11.50, 2 choice at $12, 1 strictly Provisions.

The market was steady but quiet. Bacon was in demand, besides the regular order trade 300 boxes selling to replenish a packer's stock. Offerings were generally small of everything. This fact sustained pork and dry salt, for which orders were scant and had there been any pressure to sell these, both would have probably declined. Lard was very dull. Offerings were liberal of dry salt up country. Buyers would not pay for fully-cured 50-lb c'ribs over 5.57½c c. and f., and at that rate 100,000 lbs sold. Another sale to arrive was 50,000 lbs 10-day 45c, 50-lb c'ribs on p. t.

Lard—Prime steam quotable at 5.75c, leaf jobbing at 6⅝c for fancy and 6¼c for seconds.

Pork—Mess in a small way at $11; on orders, $11.25.

Dry Salt Meats—Loose of shipping age f. o. b. on cash orders—Shoulders at 5¼c, longs and c'ribs at 5.65c, shorts at 5.80c; boxed, shoulders at 5¼c, longs at 5.75c, c'ribs at 5.75@5.80c, shorts at 5.90. On orders—Boxed longs, 6c; ribs, 6⅛c; shorts, 6¼c.

Bacon—Packed shoulders sold at 5⅝c, longs at 6.25c, c'ribs at 6.25c, shorts at 6.45c. On orders—Longs, 6½c; c'ribs, 6⅝c; shorts, 6⅞c.

Hams—Range from 10½c to 12½c, as to size or brand.

Highwines—Lower at $1.12 in St. Louis, Chicago and Cincinnati, $1.13 in Peoria.

Lead and Spelter.

Lead—There was such an absence of demand that sellers were forced to reduce prices still more to effect sales, and even lower rates prevailed to bring out buyers. Late yesterday 3 cars sold E. side at 4.82½c, and to-day could be bought at 4.80c.

Spelter—Quiet at 5⅜c.

Commercial Board.

Wheat and corn were panicky on reports of further failures—some in Chicago—Dec. wheat selling down to 93⅞c and May to $1.01¾ and May corn to 49⅝c. Later rallied to 93⅞c bid Dec., $1 02 for May and 50c for May corn. Puts in May wheat $1 to $1.00½ and calls $1.02¾ to $1.03. Puts—May corn, 48½c to 48¾c, and calls 50¼c. May oats offered at 45½c.

Chicago Puts—May wheat $1.04¼ and calls $1.07. Puts, May corn 51½c and calls 53⅝@¼c.

ON THE STREET.

[The Post-Dispatch quotations are for lots in first hands unless stated otherwise. On orders higher.]

Live poultry, excepting turkeys, which were in good demand and higher to-day, was quiet and showed no material change; the demand continues as heretofore, best for straight lots, while the majority of the offerings are mixed lots; just now, the market on turkeys is in fair shape, and if shippers will send them in gradually and not hold back for one or two days previous to Thanksgiving, it will be to their own advantage. Game was about steady, and consignments came in generally in fair condition, notwithstanding that the weather is unfavorable. Veals in free offering, and a little easier. Butter shows no change, demand slow on fancy creameries, but better for medium grades. Eggs steady, but in larger receipt. Apples were strong, and on the choice and fancy shipping grades we note an advance; low and medium grades quiet and unchanged. Grapes easier, but in good demand to-day. Potatoes in larger receipt, but steady. Onions quiet and unchanged. Cabbage dull and in slow request. Home-grown vegetables show no essential changes.

Fruit.

Apples—Arrivals again fell off, and there was but little really choice or fancy fruit among the receipts. This class of fruit is in unsupplied demand, that is, when it is large and sound, smooth and well-packed, and to-day we note a stiffer and better market. The low, or second and medium grades, while in moderate request, were quiet and steady. We quote from $2 per bbl for common, small, specked, wormy and loose-packed, up to $3.50 for fancy straight Ben Davis, huntsman, willow twig, etc. Sales: 20 bbls geniting at $2.31½, 1 car load of damaged, consisting of 20 bbls wine sap, 10 willow twig and 10 steele red at $2.50, and 120 Ben Davis at $2.75, 100 bbls fancy straight Ben Davis at $3.50.

"Hope deferred maketh the heart sick," and that is what is wearing out the bulls.

The Hungarian corn crop is reported to be turning out below the average, the bulk of the crop showing a light yield. Potatoes prove to be a poor crop.

Unusually severe frosts are reported from Russia, which it was feared might seriously injure the crops, no snow having fallen even in the northern part of the country.

Reports from the Argentine Republic say that there is a good export demand for corn, supplies of which are now falling off. Little or nothing doing in wheat for export.

A Norwich (Io.) grain dealer writes that most conservative farmers and grain men throughout Iowa regard the Government's estimate of 26 bu corn to the acre as entirely too high, and say it will not go above 21 bu.

The Chicago market must be a light-waisted one when the sale of 30,000 bu corn by Hutchinson is put on the wire by their commission merchants as a notable trade. Why, Bob Golson sold Cobb & Co. 100,000 bu May corn this morning, but as Sam Gerridge would say, they "didn't 'owl about it."

The Secretary of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture has issued a bulletin showing that the wheat crop of that State, as demonstrated by threshing, was 4,200,000 bu larger than his former estimate. The total yield is now placed at 28,600,000 bu. It was 30,912,000 bu in 1889.

The four chief shippers of wheat to the United Kingdom and Continent during the twelve weeks ending Oct. 25, according to the Liverpool "Corn Trade News," were as follows: Russia, 20,912,000 bu; Danubian ports, 17,600,000 bu; America, 15,872,000 bu; India, 4,776,000.

Mail advices from the Argentine Republic announces that there has been much exaggeration about the effect of drought on the wheat crop. As yet no positive damage has been caused and the yield promises most fairly.

Cotton.

While the spot markets everywhere were still quiet and generally easy in tone, the futures were higher, except at New Orleans. New York spots were steady on middling, and the other grades were revised. The future market closed 5 to 8 points higher. New Orleans spots continued steady, but futures at 2:15 p. m. were steady to 3 points off. Liverpool spots easy, but futures 1 to 3 points better. Local spot quotations were revised and the market was quiet; sales were 685 bales.

Chicago Market Letters.

By Private Wire to J. P. Frier.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Few outsiders came to this market this morning and the early hesitation over cables later gave way to large, continued selling, which looked like liquidation of long property and which carried prices rapidly down.

There were more rumors of trouble with some houses in New York (which we cannot verify), and Kansas was reported to increase her estimate of her wheat crop 4,000,000 bu on returns from threshers, which, with fine weather for marketing, all tended to depress prices. The close was low and the outlook is for more liquidation and lower prices.

Corn held up early but later on large selling broke sharply and we think must have suffered in price on this general liquidation which may set in.

Provisions were dull but ruled steady. We think continued weakness in wheat and corn would bring out property and likely to cause sharp decline.

F. G. LOGAN & Co.

Special to Ewald & Co.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Wheat—An almost panicky feeling has pervaded the floor to-day, in which all articles participated to a greater or less extent. A strenuous effort was made at the opening to bull wheat, but everything seemed against the operators of that side. The key to the situation has been the bad financial outlook in New York, two considerable failures being rumored. Everybody seemed to have long wheat for sale. The news from the Northwest comes that receipts are so large that elevator men find difficulty in caring for them and are forced to issue elevator scrip to relieve the monetary strain. Receipts are large here and must increase if the condition of affairs in the Northwest continues. The close was very weak at fallen prices, with no indication of any reaction to-morrow.

Corn was steadily bulled by Hutchinson during the early morning, but when other longs began to sell he found himself entirely unable to protect the market. He made active efforts to sell as the market declined, but the balance of the traders were sellers with him instead of buyers, all of them seeming to have some long stuff to market. The close is very sick, and a panicky feeling prevailed.

Provisions were comparatively steady, but sold off some in sympathy with grain. There is undoubtedly a large long interest among outside trade and as the sellers have been packers who expect to make the stuff and not shorts. We look for liquidation of the long interest before we have much improvement.

Liquid -:- Bread

Renders most valuable aid and is recommended by able physicians for such affections.

E. CARROLL MORGAN, A. B., M. D., Washington, D. C., writes: "I have been prescribing your 'Liquid Bread' or Pure Malt Extract for some time past for patients suffering with incipient phthisis, chronic bronchitis or nervous aphonia. My experience with the remedy has been satisfactory, and improvement has generally followed the use of the 'Liquid Bread' Pure Malt Extract. For loss of appetite, debility or emaciation I can testify to the therapeutic value of this preparation when judiciously administered."

Electro-Galvanic REGENERATOR

is something absolutely new in medicine, a perfect little wonder, performing cures in the most obstinate cases of Lost or Failing Power, Nervous Debility, Atrophy of the parts, etc., without trouble or attention on the part of the person using it. It is so plain and simple in its construction that anyone can apply it. Its effects are almost instantaneous, and the good results go on increasing from day to day.

RELAPSES ARE NOT POSSIBLE because it retains its power for years, and anyone feeling the slightest weakness can at once apply it and quickly cut short any evil tendency and restore the parts to full health and strength.

IN LOST OR FAILING POWER For men, who feel that their virile strength is decreasing, this electrical marvel is unequaled. Reaching, as it does, the very fountain of manly vigor, it soon restores the local nerves and muscles to full power. No matter how many times you may have failed heretofore, you may employ this little instrument with the certainty of success.

IN EXHAUSTION NERVOUS DEBILITY The constant current of galvanism flowing directly through the nerves affected, stimulates and strengthens them, and by restoring contractile power to the seminal vesicles and ducts, prevents the constant drain and flow of vital fluid which so weakens and destroys.

IN BLADDER DISEASES Persons having Inflammation of the Bladder, Painful Urination, Gravel, Enlarged Prostate Gland, and like Disorders, should never give up hope until they have tested the Regenerator. Its action in such complaints is marvelous, as the many testimonials in our possession very plainly show.

VARICOCELE cured easily and painlessly by our new method.

IN HEADACHES, NEURALGIA, SCIATICA, RHEUMATISM, and all painful Nervous Affections, the gentle current which flows from the Regenerator is truly a natural remedy. It is easily applied to any affected part, and its results are almost instantaneous.

THE REGENERATOR RECOMMENDS ITSELF! We depend for the extension of our business upon the recommendations of grateful and pleased patients who have used the Regenerator and are willing to acknowledge its merits. SEND $2 and get one of these little Medical Marvels, and if it is not exactly as represented, you can have your money back, for we can always find plenty of customers. MEN OTHERWISE SOUND who find their power lost or declining, will find in this appliance a most useful and worthy little instrument, and it will prove of the greatest value to all who are weak, nervous or debilitated. ☞We number among our patrons and patients Doctors, Lawyers, Judges, Congressmen, Clergymen, Bankers and Merchants. SENT POST-PAID, SECURELY SEALED, UPON RECEIPT OF PRICE, $2. ☞Full Descriptive Circular FREE on application.

FELL ON THE TRACK.

THE TERRIBLE FATE OF JAMES S. GOODWIN, THE CARTOON ARTIST.

Taken Sick in a Railway Car, He Falls While Alighting at His Station and Is Killed by a Passing Freight Train—An Unique Figure Removed From the Field of Pictorial Journalism.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The following are the details of the accidental killing of James S. Goodwin, the cartoon artist, brief mention of which was made in dispatches yesterday:

Mr. Goodwin was out with some friends on Tuesday evening and took the theater train home from New York. Before he reached Mamaroneck, however, he became sick in the car and when he got off at his station he fell on the track. Before he had time to arise, a freight train came along and striking him, hurled him several feet. The glasses which he always wore were found some twenty yards away. Nothing was missing from his pockets, thus doing away with all suspicions of murder and theft. Since his wife's death, some time ago, Mr. Goodwin resided with Mr. Huntley. The latter, in telling the story of the accident, claimed that the railroad company was responsible, as the place was badly lighted, and the officials were not at their posts at the time the accident happened. The death of Mr. Goodwin removes a unique figure from the field of pictorial journalism. To him the leading humorous artists of the country, Zimmerman, A. B. Frost, Opper and others owe to a very large extent the widespread reputations they have gained. In nearly all cartoons on social subjects in the leading humorous journals of America he was the power behind the throne. Five years ago the reputations of Judge and Puck depended to a large extent on their three principal cartoons. They were all on political subjects, social matters being either consigned to a minor position or totally neglected. There was no social artist in the American field, and in this department European papers were

AWAY AHEAD.

One winter night, five years ago, Mr. Goodwin, hitherto a mechanical engineer and draughtsman, called on Mr. Gillam of Judge and suggested that he be employed to furnish Mr. Gillam with ideas for cartoons on social subjects. Mr. Goodwin had been in receipt of a salary of $5,000 as mechanical draughtsman, but he had faith in his new idea and Mr. Gillam accepted the offer. His rough drafts of humorous cartoons indicated such genius that he was enabled to extend his operations and take in Puck and other humorous weeklies, Harper's publications, Scribner's, the Century and many others throughout the United States. His idear's for cartoons were drawn roughly on sheets of brown paper with the subjects or dialogues scribbled around the edges and from ten to fifteen of these were turned out by him every day. He received for them in average of $3 each and during the last few years his annual income from this source is known to have been between $8,000 and $9,000.

His fertility in evolving these ideas was marvelous and such was their merit that none of them went begging for purchasers. These rough cartoons were generally submitted to Mr. Gillam, who made his selections, and the remainder were sent in a similar manner to Puck, Life and other journals.

A FITTING TRIBUTE.

"Mr. Goodwin," said Mr. Bernard Gillam last evening, "will be more sorely missed than would any other man connected with the American humorous press. He created a field, the like of which did not exist before. He prepared ideas on every subject, except politics, which he left severely alone. His name is not familiar with the majority, notwithstanding his great influence in the humorous literature of the age. In London it was the custom for all the great artists and cartoonists to meet every Wednesday at the office of Grip and exchange ideas for subjects of illustration, but Mr. Goodwin need no assistance in his work. He had a field all to himself and he filled it well. As showing his inborn capacity for this variety of work, it is a fact that several others, spurred on by his success have tried to make a living by furnishing ideas for artists, but their efforts have been comparatively failures. And before he entered the field several of our numerous weeklies attempted to make a feature of social cartoons, but gave up the effort in despair. Social humor was at a discount in those days. The peculiar field which Mr. Goodwin created will receive a heavy blow by his death, and certain it is that the 'insides' of the funny papers from now on will be comparatively weak."

Mr. Goodwin was 38 years of age and was married about ten years ago. His wife has been dead only about four months. At the time of her marriage to Mr. Goodwin she had a son 7 years old by a former marriage, and with him the cartoonist has been living at Mamaroneck since the death of his wife. He came to the city every morning, returning in the evening. He was in his office as usual on Tuesday.

HENRY ALTMANN DISCOVERS THE THE WHEREABOUTS OF HIS WIFE.

She Is Living With Her Former Boarder, William Schaefer, in Cincinnati—How a Home Was Broken Up by a Woman's Faithlessness—A Husband Who Was Blinded to the Alienation of a Wife's Affection.

To-day Henry Altmann occupies bachelor quarters in the house at 512 South Fourth street. A month ago he had a happy home at 310 Lafayette avenue. A woman's duplicity has wrecked his whole life and left him penniless to start anew in the struggle for existence. That woman is his wife.

Altmann is a carpenter. He is past middle age and eight years ago settled down to the quiet enjoyment of a married life. His wife, Mary, was fifteen years his junior, yet they lived happily together and were respected in the community. Altmann's earnings were not always large and when two years ago the wife proposed to take in one or two boarders, she easily obtained her husband's consent to the scheme. Wm. Schaefer applied for apartments and has made his home with the Altmanns' ever since. Several times the husband noticed the little extra attentions which his helpmate paid the boarder but attributed them to the concern she felt for the extra income. In no way was he prepared for the developments of the past month.

HOODMAN BLIND.

On the evening of Oct. 16 Altmann went home after doing a hard day's work. The front door was locked and he went around to the rear. This door was bolted and he turned his attention to the windows only to find that every one of the blinds had been drawn. By this time the neighbors were out in their respective yards, laughing and twitting the nearly frantic man about the ease with which the wool had been pulled over his eyes. Altmann was hammering at the windows and calling to his wife in the most agonized tones.

"You don't need to all your wife, neighbor Altmann," said one, "she went away with the boarder this morning."

It was only too true. Altmann soon learned that the intrigue between the two had been for months a standing joke in the neighborhood. In less than an hour after he left for work that morning Schaefer had returned, doffed his working clothes, put on his best garments and had gone away. In a short while he again returned. This time he had with him a second-hand furniture dealer. The faithless wife and her paramour assisted the merchant in loading the household effects into the wagon at the door, and by noon the entire place had been devastated. Then the guilty couple had packed their personal effects and had gone away together. Altmann burst in the door to convince himself of the truth of the statements. Not only had the furniture been taken, but every stitch of his clothing was gone with the exception of an undergarment which lay in the middle of the floor. On this was placed a paper marked strychnine, which contained a quantity of white powder. This was undoubtedly meant as an invitation to suicide, and the wronged man was on the point of accepting it as such when the neighbors interfered. The house was again closed and Altmann remained that night with a friend.

The following morning he reported the matter to the police and commenced a search for the fugitives. He traced the furniture to the shop of the dealer and learned that it had been sold for almost nothing, so anxious were the elopers to get away. In addition to the money thus realized the couple took with them Altmann's savings for more than two years, every cent of which he had entrusted to his wife's care. This amounts to several hundred dollars, exactly how much the husband does not know.

DROPPED THE CASE.

This morning Altmann called at the Four Courts and notified the authorities that he desired that no further action be taken in the matter. He had just returned from Cincinnati, where he had found the elopers. They were living as man and wife at 223 Eastern avenue, to which place they had made their way immediately upon leaving this city. Whether or not they had made any restitution he would not state. He said, however, that there would be no prosecution as he had decided to make the best of the situation and intended to leave the pair undisturbed.

THUNDER STORMS AND TORNADOES.

Lieut. Finley's Wife Disputes Statements in Gen. Greely's Report.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Finley, the wife of Lieut. John P. Finley of the United States Army, the noted expert on tornadoes, is visiting in Salt Lake City. In an interview in regard to statements in Gen. Greeley's annual report claiming that thunder storms are more destructive of life and property than tornadoes, Mrs. Finley said:

"I can give you some statistics from my husband's official report on tornadoes. Their number, so far as observed within the last seventeen years, was 1,566. With the sole exception of the Rocky Mountain region no part of the United States is exempt from their ravages. No season of the year is wholly proof against them. Some of the recent tornadoes were very destructive, as for instance the Grinnell tornado on June 17, 1882, by which a large section of Central Iowa was desolated and the town itself nearly swept from the earth and 130 human souls dashed into eternity in less time than it takes to relate it. In Marshfield, Mo., over 100 people were killed. In 1885 a tornado passed over Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, destroying over $2,000,000 worth of property and many lives. On April 14, 1886, St. Cloud and Sauk Rapids, Minn., were visited by the monster, resulting in a loss of over $500,000 and nearly one hundred lives. Among the severest of recent times is the terrible experience of Feb. 19, 1884, when the States of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky were scourged by sixty tornadoes, all occurring in one fatal day between the hours of 10 a. m. and midnight, by which nearly $4,000,000 worth of property was destroyed, 800 people were killed, 2,500 wounded and fully fifteen thousand persons rendered desolate. Over ten thousand buildings were destroyed. I have no data regarding thunderstorms."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS.

WENDELL BAKER'S RECENT RECORD-BREAKING PERFORMANCE.

What the Berkeley Athlete Has Done—President McAlpin's Treachery to His Associates in the Players' League—The National League Has the New Organization at Its Mercy—General Sporting News.

WENDELL BAKER, of the Berkeley Athletic Club, a few years ago, when a student at Harvard, was considered the fastest sprinter in the country, says the New York Herald. In 1886, shortly after leaving college, he broke almost all of the existing records from 100 yards up to and including the quarter mile run, the latter a world's record. The recent performance of Downs of Harvard, at Beacon Park, and the more recent efforts of Carey and Owens, caused Baker to again put on the spiked shoe.

Baker's original idea was to have a go at the quarter mile record, but Cary's recent efforts at the shorter distances caused him to change his mind and he decided to try and break the records at 180 and 200 yards, and he succeeded in doing the 200 yards. Baker's dislike to notoriety caused the affair to be kept very quiet, so when he appeared on the track at Berkeley Oval yesterday afternoon, outside of the Herald reporter, the judges, timers and a few boys who were playing football there were no spectators of what proved to be the fastest 180 and 200 yards ever ran. Mr. S. D. See of the Acorn A. A. officiated as starter; Messrs. C. A. Reed, N. Y. A. C.; C. F. Mathewson, Berkeley A. C.; Robert Stall, N. Y. A. C.; G. A. Avery, Manhattan A. C., and Mortimer Bishop, S. I. A. C., acted as measurers and timers.

The track was carefully measured and verified twice, a Chesterman Sheffield steel tape being used for the purpose, which agreed to the fraction of an inch with the surveyor's measurement. Baker appeared on the track at 4:30 o'clock for his first attempt. After six false starts the pistol was fired, Baker getting off very poorly, losing one-fifth of a second. After about forty feet he settled down to work, and with the tremendous stride for which he is famous he fairly flew past the tape. Mr. C. F. Mathewson, who was the only timer at the 180 yard mark, made the time 18s.—just equalling Baker's record made in 1886. The 200 yards was made in 20 1-5s., a shade behind the record, which is 20⅛s. made by L. E. Meyers. All of the watches agreed. The timers were Stoll, Reed and Avery.

WONDERFUL SPRINTING.

This was wonderful running, considering the poor start, and all hands joined in urging him to try again, which he consented to do after a short rest. At 5 o'clock Baker again appeared on the mark, and his set teeth and drawn features expressed more plainly than words his determination to do or die. After one false start he got away beautifully and struck his stride at the start. Fifty yards from the finish he swerved slightly on a soft place on the track, but recovered quickly and finished in grand style. Everyone crowded around the timers. Stoll made the 180 yards a shade under 18s, Avery, 18 1-5s and Mathewson failed to stop his watch. The 200 yards time was Bishop, 20s; Reed, 20s, and Connelly, 20 1-10s. A great shout went up when it was known that he had broken the record. In the first heat the light wind blowing slightly favored the runner. In the second heat the wind was almost directly in the runner's face, which makes the performance still more remarkable.

The following is a partial list of Baker's performances: 100 yards, 10s; 180 yards, 18s; 220 yards, 22s; 440 yards, 47¾s—all made at Beacon Park in 1886. Affidavits will be made and filed for the record.

The Players' League Downed.

The war between the National and Players' Leagues has terminated just as was to be expected. The older organization has triumphed. The only wonder is that the Players' League lasted as long as it did. Few disinterested people who are conversant with the inner workings of base ball expected it to survive one season. It was generally believed the before the season was half over the players would get to wrangling among themselves, and that the whole organization would go to pieces. It is unquestionably a great injustice to require a base ball player to work under a national agreement contract. The man is practically a slave. He is reserved from year to year, and cannot change employers without the consent of his boss, and then is sold by the latter just as if he were a horse. While there are many men in the base ball profession who are very sensible, modest and reasonable, and give very little trouble to the management of the clubs, it is also undeniably true that a large percentage of the men are very hard to control and so as to be able to do anything with this latter class it is absolutely necessary to frame unusually iron-clad rules for their government. They are probably the most difficult set of men in the world to control. Yet there are no set of men who are so bad as to warrant the framing of so infamous a document as the national agreement to govern them. Every man should be free after his contract expires to go wherever he chooses to play and can do best, and not be compelled at the end of the season to again sign with the same club for another season with a reserve clause holding him for still another year. In this way he is reserved for all time to come and is denied the privilege every man should have of bettering himself. The club owners say such measures are necessary to keep down salaries to a reasonable figure. If salaries must be kept down they should be governed by an agreement between owners such as manufacturers and business men make. But no, the magnates are as hard as the players to control and they dare not trust each other. They all feel that any agreement they might make would be broken by unscrupulous men interested in clubs, and so they protect themselves against each other by iron-clad rules governing players and making the latter suffer for all the misdeeds of their employers. This is certainly unjust and unfair, but the unfortunate players will probably have to submit to it now, for their organization is in the throes of death. Its death rattle has been sounded and in a few days it will be no more.

The Players' League undertook too big a task when they endeavored to knock out the National League. The latter is an old, established organization with plenty of capital back of it. They had their own base ball grounds and years of experience in the business, while the Players' League had to fit up new grounds at an enormous outlay of money and pay the players enormous salaries. The National League employed a lot of green players at low salaries, and while they did not draw as many people their expenses for the season were nothing compared with that of the new league when the grounds fitted up by the latter are taken into consideration. Both organizations lost money, but the National League was, of course, much the smaller loser in the season. Besides, its magnates only lost some of the money they had already made out of the business in previous years, while the Players' League had made nothing out of the business, and every dollar that went was a clear loss and came directly out of their pockets. Besides in A. G. Spalding, Soden and other National League magnates, the Players' League people had opponents who were more than a match for them in the matter of shrewdness. They bucked against an old established institution backed by brains and capital and failed.

Good Mr. McAlpin's Treachery.

As was generally expected, the New York Players' League Club has dropped over to the National League. It was well known that the team had consolidated with the National League Club in New York, and that its resignation would be presented at the meeting of the Players' League. Col. McAlpin, the President of the Players' League, who is a large stockholder of the New York representative of the organization, presented the club's resignation from the body at the meeting yesterday. Some weeks ago, negotiations for a compromise were opened by the National and Players' League, but a hitch in the proceedings over admitting players to the meeting, stopped the deal. Then the New York and Pittsburg and, it is believed, the Brooklyn Players' Club also, conferred with the National League clubs in their respective cities and effected consolidations, leaving their associates out in the cold world and completely at the mercy of the National League. The Players' League foolishly bought out the Cincinnati National League team at the close of the past season. Their representative in Buffalo cannot possibly go on for another year, so that only five clubs are left in the Players' League—Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cleveland and Cincinnati. The money spent in securing the last-named team has been thrown away. The League cannot go on with five teams, as it will be next to impossible to get three others that will be self-supporting. As a result, the Players' League will be forced to the wall. The members realized this yesterday when at their meeting they appointed a committee to confer with the National League on the subject of consolidation. As a result of the desertion of New York, Pittsburg and Brooklyn, the remaining teams in the Players' League will be completely at the mercy of the National League, and will have to take whatever the latter organization will give them, and that will be precious little. It was a contemptible piece of perfidy on the part of the deserters to consolidate with National League teams in their respective cities before their associates could come to terms with the clubs in their cities. And yet the man who was guilty of this duplicity, is the good Col. McAlpin, whose religious scruples would not permit him to consent to contenancing anything so base as the playing of base ball on Sunday. All the New York papers who have been taking sides with the National League in the base ball fight are now engaged in a commendable effort of making a hero out of the noble Colonel. They are making all sorts of wild claims about what he did for the Players' League and about how much that organization is indebted to him. One day the New York Tribune stated in his defense that he would offer to remain in the Players' League the coming season if each club in it would put up $50,000, which would be a total guarantee of $400,000 from the eight clubs. The very next day the same paper exposed the shallowness of the man by stating that the Players' League was bound to go under, as New York and Brooklyn had gone over to the National League, and that in stipulating a condition under which he would remain in with the New York Club Col. McAlpin had stipulated a guarantee which was so high that it would be utterly out of the question for the other clubs to give it. Although guilty of all this treachery to his associates Col. McAlpin is still too good to permit the playing of base ball on Sunday. Such seems to be the case with all the men who have fought Sunday base ball. They have been people who, while making an outward pretense of being most immaculate beings, have always been ready to take advantage of others in any way they possibly could in order to advance their own interests.

King "Kell."

Michael J. Kelly, "the $10,000 beauty," who had a conference in New York yesterday with A. G. Spalding endeavoring to effect a compromise between the National and Players' Leagues, has had a remarkable career on the ball field. The "Only Kell," was born in Troy, N. Y., in 1857. His career as a ball player began with the Haymakers of Troy, N. Y., in 1873, with whom he played right field until 1875. His first professional engagement was in 1876 and 1877 with the Olympics of Paterson, and in 1878 he played with the Buckeyes of Columbus, O., McCormack pitching. In 1879 he was right fielder and change catcher for the Cincinnati League team, and was considered the best catcher in the profession. In the fall of 1879 he went with the Cincinnati-Buffalo combination to California, and in 1880 he was engaged by the Chicagos as change catcher and right fielder. Feb. 14, 1887, he was sold to Boston for $10,000 by the President of the Chicago club. He has but few equals in base running, being a very fast runner, and taking desperate chances. Kelly was educated for the priesthood at Georgetown College. He has also been on the stage, playing Dusty Bob in "A Tin Soldier." Kelly's handling of the Boston Players' League team of 1890 has stamped him as one of the greatest base ball generals living.

Corbett's Challenges.

Referring to Jim Corbett, the Californian who bested Jake Kilrain and Dominick McCaffrey in limited round set-tos, Macon says: "Jim has announced his willingness to meet either Slavin, Jackson or Sullivan. The first named pair are to fight, so it is said, and Slavin has no engagement with an English goal-keeper to prevent, before the Melbourne Club in March. Jackson is due in San Francisco shortly, and he may then talk turkey to Corbett. The big black, I understand, still considers himself under engagement to the California Club, and may conclude to do nothing in this country until its legal right to give fistic exhibitions is defined by the courts. Corbett himself is under engagement until May to the Olympic Club of San Francisco, and it does not countenance fights between professionals. Jim would have to resign his position as its boxing instructor to engage in one. I hardly think he cares to tackle either of the three men named just at present or in the immediate future. He is now under engagement to travel next season with a vaudeville show and his managers are good advertisers. Still he may mean business, but if he does I would advise him to try the darkey first, and if he makes the riffle with him to next take on Slavin. If he flaxes out the conquerors of Joe McAuliffe every one will acknowledge that he has a right to call for a match with Sullivan, but until he has beaten either Frank or Peter he had better let the big fellow go by for the present. Tom Hyer put Yankee Sullivan off for seven years before he would give him battle, and the result proved that he was wise in his day and generation. If Corbett is equally sagacious he will take another summer out of himself before shying his castor into the ring with John L. Sullivan.

Olympic A. A. Club.

The Olympic A. A. Club held its regular monthly meeting at its club-house last evening with a very large attendance, President J. Ed Roesch presiding.

The reports of several committees were accepted. They showed the club to be progressing very nicely.

The Committee on Entertainments reported good progress for the athletic entertainment which is to take place at the National Hall, 1800 Allen avenue, Thanksgiving Eve, Nov. 26. The programme will consist of sparring, wrestling, fencing, jumping, pole vaulting, weight lifting, tug of war and tableaux. Mr. J. Ed Roesch will lecture on the progress of athletics in general all over the country, and by means of a magic lantern illustrate the leading club houses of America.

After the entertainment dancing will take place, good music having been secured. As the hall is one o' the largest in the city there will be ample accomodation for all, and as the committee have left nothing undone to make this an enjoyable affair, a large attendance is expected. The best local talent have volunteered, amongst them, B. McFadden, Jno. C. Meyers, Alb. Niest, M. Langsdorf, Rob Phillips, Ed Block, Jno. Mosner, Herm. Wienecke, Wm. Lange, Jno. Flesh, Alex. Lifka, Geo. Hugh, Ike Uller and others.

The Olympics will organize a second and third foot ball team, and all members wishing to play will report Sunday morning at 9 o'clock to A. J. Hellmich, captain, at the grounds. It is rumored that a second team could be made up that could beat the first team. Ed. Klein will play.

GEN. ALBERT PIKE.

The Distinguished Mason Convalescent After a Long Illness.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 13.—Gen. Albert Pike, who has been sick for two weeks at his room in the Scottish Rite Temple of this city, is now convalescent. He is the Grand Commander of the Scottish Rite of Free Masonry and Chief of the Royal Order of Scotland for this country. He is the custodian of the "Book of Gold," a ponderous volume locked with a heavy gold clasp, and there is but one key that will open it. The book contains the secret records of the rite and supposedly also Gen. Pike's nomination of his successor. It is believed that the choice will fall on either John Mills Browne, Surgeon-General of the United States Navy, or Thomas Hubbard Caswell of San Francisco, the present Grand Chancellor of the Supreme Council. The nomination must be confirmed by the Supreme Council, which is composed of thirty-three Scottish Rite Masons. The Rt. Rev. Thos. W. Dudley of Kentucky is also spoken of in connection with the office, but he would have to resign his Episcopal office to accept it, and that he would probably not be willing to do. Josiah H. Drummond will probably be named as Gen. Pike's successor as Chief of the Royal Order of Scotland.

GEN. MERRITT'S REPORT.

A STRONG ARGUMENT FOR THE LOCATION OF A LARGE POST HERE.

Strategical Advantages of St. Louis as a Military Post Clearly Stated—A Rifle Range Wanted at Jefferson Barracks—The Murphys and Doughertys—Condition of Affairs in Oklahoma.

THE annual report of Brigadier-Gen. Wesley Merritt, in command of the Department of the Missouri, which has been sent to the War Department in Washington, is of unusual interest to the citizens of St. Louis.

The headquarters of the department were located in St. Louis entirely on account of the recognition by Gen. Merritt of the strategic advantages of this point, and he is strongly advocating the establishment of a large post at Jefferson Barracks. In reference to this

NECESSITY FOR A LARGE POST,

Gen. Merritt states in his report:

In view of the abandonment of the posts of Forts Elliott and Gibson and Little Rock Barracks, it is in my opinion important that a post for at least ten companies should be established somewhere near this city—St. Louis. The reservation at Jefferson Barracks naturally suggests itself as the proper location of such a post. This being a railroad center, it is possible to send troops in any needed direction. The recent anticipated troubles in the Chickasaw country illustrated the necessity of having troops for use in the Indian Territory at some such point as this. In that affair it was necessary to move the entire garrison from Little Rock Barracks to Fort Gibson, leaving only a small guard at Little Rock. In the event of an outbreak in the Indian Territory I would have been compelled to move troops from Forts Leavenworth and Riley. A garrison here would obviate such necessity, and apart from local necessities which might arise for the use of troops, would be both economical and convenient. An east and west road now contemplated and in part being built, by the Choctaw Coal & Railroad Co. from McAllister through Oklahoma, and the Indian Territory with eastern connections at Fort Smith, Ark., will greatly simplify the question of rapid transit from this point through to New Mexico. This line intersects the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad and two branches of the Santa Fe and a branch of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad. This last road in the past year has been extended from the neighborhood of Kingfisher in Oklahoma Territory to Minco, south of the Canadian River in the Indian Territory. All these roads combined, give access direct from this city to any point in the Indian Territory, or other sections South and West. If Fort Sill is to be abandoned in the near future, a post in this vicinity will become of great importance, and I urge that an appropriation for its erection on the reservation at Jefferson Barracks be asked for this year.

I call special attention to the recommendation made by the inspector of small arms practice as to the establishment of a department target range on the reservation at Jefferson Barracks, and that the range at Fort Leavenworth be turned over to the post—an excellent range can be found on the reservation here and it would be free from the objection that any troops which might enter the competitions, practice on it during the year, and in this way had an advantage.

Gen. Merritt has on several previous occasions strongly advocated the location of a large post at Jefferson Barracks, and Gen. D. P. Grier, Chairman of the Merchants' Exchange Committee that visited Washington for the purpose of securing an appropriation for improving the reservation, stated that if the result desired was secured the city would be more indebted to Gen. Merritt than to anyone else.

AFFAIRS IN OKLAHOMA.

After reporting that the cattlemen had offered no opposition to the enforcement of the President's message in reference to the abandonment of the Cherokee strip, Gen. Merritt in his report says:

"Affairs in Oklahoma have been exceedingly quiet. Civil government has been established in that Territory and the military commands while still there, are in the main relieved from their unusual responsibilities. Owing to the severe drouth this season, the corn crop has in many sections been an almost total failure, and the farming industry not having been sufficiently organized to insure the planting of staples which are most productive in that country—as wheat and cotton—there is considerable destitution among the people in the country districts. Recent investigation shows that assistance from outside the Territory will have to be extended to about one-third, if not more, of the population. I am gratified to know that the Government is taking measures to assist these worthy and enterprising people who, be it said to their credit, disguise their necessities and ask that at most, they be given work so they may earn for their families what will be necessary for their support during the coming winter. It will be necessary to supply these farmers grain for seeding their farms for the coming season, and in not a few instances clothing and food must be furnished to prevent suffering and perhaps starvation this winter. It is believed that hereafter, with a better knowledge of the character of the climate and the qualities of the soil, the people of Oklahoma will be fairly prosperous and will be able to live without extraneous aid.

TWO TROUBLESOME FAMILIES.

An amusing section of the report is that in reference to two families, whose domicile has been a cause of dispute between the War and Interior Departments. The report is as follows:

"'Instructions having been received from the Adjutant-General's office to employ troops for the ejection of the Murphy and Dougherty families from the Sac and Fox and Iowa reservations, Company F, Tenth Infantry (Stretch's), was ordered to proceed from Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to those points to carry out the instructions of the Secretary of War. Upon arrival at Hoyt, Kan., on Aug. 4, Capt. Stretch reported that the Indian Agent had received instructions from the Interior Department not to remove the Murphy family until further orders were communicated to him. Thereupon Capt. Stretch was directed to send a non-commissioned officer and sufficient men to eject the Doughertys, and return with the remainder of the company to Fort Leavenworth, where he arrived on the 18th of August."

Probably the Murphys and the Doughertys are as greatly astonished to find themselves so famous as the rest of the world.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Investigation of Its Management by a Select Congressional Committee.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 13.—The Congressional committee appointed during the regent session of Congress to inquire into the management and expenditures of the World's Columbian Commission is in session here to-day, and the Hon. Roswell P. Flower of that committee proposes to enliven the work by making some searching inquiries, with a view to making a decided change in the course so far laid down by the commission.

"The first thing I propose to learn if possible," Congressman Flower said in an interview, "is who is running this Fair. The next thing is how the commission is spending the money appropriated by Congress. I understand that the commissioners are drawing pay, and that the salary list is very large. Now, I have no hesitancy in saying that in my opinion the commissioners should not accept any pay for their services. The position is one of great honor, and should not carry with it any pecuniary compensation."

He is a successful builder and well able to pay the girl.

LOST ALL HIS MONEY.

The Suicide of Wm. Denny, a Prominent Broker, at Spokane Falls.

SPOKANE FALLS, Wash., Nov. 13.—Wm. Denny, a prominent broker on the Mining Exchange, committed suicide yesterday by blowing his brains out. Financial losses, it is said, induced the rash act. Tuesday he had $1,500. He fell in with some gamblers, and, it is said, lost all or a part of this money. Yesterday he drew several checks which were protested. He went into the business block on Sprague street, which he built, and recently sold, and going into a vacant storeroom and seating himself in the show-window, sent a bullet through his head. In his pocket a card was found directing the disposition of his body. Denny was about 50 years of age, and was a pioneer of the Pacific Northwest. He went into Cœur d'Alene in the first rush, where he owned a large placer mine, and was once engaged in business at Deer Lodge, Mont. He leaves a wife and two married daughters in Deadwood, S. D.

With His Thumb,

A boy is said to have saved the Netherlands from inundation. Multitudes have been saved from the invasion of disease by a bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine imparts tone to the system and strengthens every organ and fibre of the body.

"I have taken a great deal of medicine, but nothing has done me so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I experienced its beneficial effects before I had quite finished one bottle, and I can freely testify that it is the best blood medicine I know of."—L. Ward, sr., Woodland, Texas.

"Confined to an office, as I am, from one year's end to another, with little or no outdoor exercise, I find great help in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I have used for several years, and am at present using, with excellent results. It enables me to keep always at my post, enjoying the best of health."—H. C. Barnes, Malden, Mass.
